Teachers to Have Say On New Salary Level Committee To Survey Scale In B.C. Schools

Minister of Education Promises Federation Good Representation on Body to Fix New Basis for Salary Grants of Government; Legislation of 1931 Session Outlined to Convention.

Promising a full representation of the teaching profession on the special committee which will make a survey of the provincial educational system with a view to setting salary levels for the basis of government grants to municipalities, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, this morning addressed the twelfth annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation on the subject, "Legislation of 1931." The minister claimed that changes in the School Act at the session this year had been made with the idea of stabilizing the educational system of the province. Teachers would in any case not be affected by the new salary plan until after September 1, 1932, he said.

Mr. Hinchliffe dealt with the new legislation step by step to show the variety of problems facing the department. CHANGES LISTED
The Public Schools Act, he said, came up year after year for amendment. At the last session the changes included new definitions of public schools and pupils; rules regarding closing of high schools if the attendance were below ten pupils; securing of authority to establish a textbook bureau by which the department could distribute books to retailers with price-fixing powers, an extension of the free textbook system, but not so wide in scope as the Albert system which completely controls book-selling.

FOUNDATION OF IDEA
"The next item lies at the foundation of the very idea I have for the educational system in B.C. It deals with the power of the department to distribute money in scholarships and bursaries," he continued. "There is no doubt that some of the best brains in the province are being wasted because parents have not the money to pay for education."

On his visit to England last year he had investigated this matter carefully, he continued, finding that through government aid, students from the poorest families often led the way in higher studies.

"I am hoping to see a system established in B.C. where a child who has ability and who is ambitious to get along will be able to secure his education through government aid."

Regarding the new distribution system of grants to municipalities for teachers' salaries, Mr. Hinchliffe criticized the former method as one which had "just grown." The plan of giving the same size grant for teachers in all parts of the province, without respect to conditions, was not fair.

He had come to the conclusion that either the school boards had been exploiting the teacher by paying small salaries, or else the taxpayers by paying too much.

REPULSE REDS AT HWANGCHOW
Chinese Rebels Expelled From Destroyed Town; Fungkou Withstands Attack

Hankow, China, April 8.—Three thousand reds who attacked and captured Hwangchow, fifty miles east of here, were driven from that city yesterday. Hwangchow was reported virtually destroyed.

Six thousand reds attacked Fungkou, eighty miles west of Hankow, but the military defenders there repulsed them.

The invasion of Hwangchow was short but violent. The attackers began an orgy of looting as soon as the city fell yesterday. Government bombing planes were sent from here to dislodge the invaders.

Hwangchow, situated on the north bank of the Yangtze river, is considered an important centre because of its proximity to Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang, the tri-city group of central China.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT TO DISMISS PART OF ITS STAFF

Ottawa, April 8.—The situation with respect to the projected reductions in the personnel of the Department of the Interior is still uncertain. It was intimated here today. While it is clear a large number of the staff will be dismissed, due to the diminution of the duties now performed by the department as a consequence of the transfer of the natural resources to the western provinces, no definite decision has yet been made as to who will go and who will be retained. This can not long be delayed, however, and officials said here today that "notices may go out almost any time now."

Industry and Commerce Will Be Encouraged, Declares Man Who Defeated "Big Bill" Thompson By 191-916 Votes

Chicago, April 8.—"Criminals," said Mayor-elect Anton J. Cermak of Chicago today, "will find no hiding place here. Our streets will be safe. Industry and commerce will find the highest encouragement. We shall at once set ourselves to the task of preparing our house for those who shall visit us at the century of progress exhibition (World's Fair, 1933). This truly begins a new day for Chicago."

"Chicago," said Robert Latham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, "has redeemed itself. We have had enough of Nero fiddling while Rome burned. We have told the world we are prepared to regain our business level and restore our good name."

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chicago, April 8.—An immigrant boy has realized his greatest desire—to be mayor of the second largest city in the United States.

Anton J. Cermak, self-styled "champion of personal liberty," and undisputed commander of Cook County Democrats, today stood victor, having swept aside the fourth term aspirations of William Hale Thompson by the greatest mayoral majority in Father Dearborn's history. The vote yesterday was: Cermak 867,529, Thompson 485,613. Cermak's majority of 191,716 was in sharp contrast with the previous record majority of 147,477 by which Thompson won in 1915.

HIS PARTING WORDS
"Big Bill" Thompson rang down the political curtain for himself, for a time at least, today.

The last act in twelve years of dazzling political showmanship was over, but up to the last he played the role. It was more, however, as an understudy would describe a cowboy act than the expansive gestures that set up Thompson and to the nation symbolized Chicago.

There was not much he could say, but to the last he said the surprising. He volunteered hearty congratulations to Cermak, who only a day before he (Concluded on Page 2)

BOWSER BACK, IS SILENT ON GOVERNORSHIP

Former Premier Returns From European Tour; Finds Conditions Bad Everywhere

Admits Gubernatorial Office Was "Suggested" to Him as He Sailed From New York

W. J. Bowser, K.C., former premier of British Columbia, and for whom, according to reports from Ottawa, the office of Lieutenant-Governor has been held since the retirement of Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, returned to his home here today from his three months' European tour.

At his home on Rockland Avenue, Mr. Bowser said he had nothing to say about the lieutenant-governorship. On being questioned, however, he admitted that before he sailed from New York at the first of the year for the Mediterranean, it had been "suggested" to him.

"But I have just arrived back in Canada this morning and so far know nothing of what is going on here," Mr. Bowser went on. "Why, I haven't even had a chance to open any of my mail."

Mr. Bowser did not visit Ottawa. From New York he came west by the Northern Pacific to Seattle and crossed to Victoria this morning on the Canadian National steamer Prince Henry, two days before he was expected.

Miss Gladys Irving, his niece, who accompanied him on the European tour, left him at New York to go to New Brunswick to visit with members of her family there.

TRAVEL VERY POOR
"Conditions are very bad everywhere," Mr. Bowser said. "No one is traveling, hotels are empty and stores are doing very little business. On the coast, however, the situation is different. I crossed to New York a few days ago, there were only 140 passengers. In the Mediterranean we saw the White Star liner, Britannic, on a winter cruise with no one on her. The C.R. Duchess of Atholl had only thirty-five or forty on her."

ANTI-DRY MOVE IN FINLAND

More Than 100,000 Women Urge Repeal of Country's Prohibition Law

Heisingfors, Finland, April 8.—A petition signed by over 100,000 women of the country's prohibition law, is to be presented to the President of the republic during the next few days.

Declaring that it is to be "advocates of true temperance," the women in their petition express anxiety over the fate of future generations because of what they allege to be a continuous spread of drunkenness under the present dry statute.

"We feel ourselves powerless," the women declare in the petition, "while prohibition, with its destructive moral consequences exists, instead of a sensible law for controlling consumption of alcohol, to begin truly effective temperance work."

The women who initiated the petition maintain the prohibition law in Finland has resulted in an increase of smuggling in crime and drunkenness. Prohibition in Finland, the petition says, is supported only by "fanatics and bootleggers."

KING SHOWS GAIN, STATE HIS DOCTORS

Sovereign, Fighting Off Cold in Chest, Remains in Rooms in Windsor Castle

May Be Late Next Week Before His Majesty Is Again in Normal Health

Canadian Press
Windsor, Eng., April 8.—The British public, which had been awaiting, not without anxiety, news from King George's physicians, was heartened this forenoon by an official statement that there was a slight improvement in His Majesty's condition.

The King has been suffering since last Sunday with a chest cold, which yesterday was designated in an official bulletin as an attack of sub-acute bronchitis.

In view of yesterday's announcement that his progress, while satisfactory had been slow, to-day's statement from the castle that there had been an improvement was regarded as a favorable sign.

Authoritative quarters pointed out, however, that inevitably condition like that of the king must take some time to clear up—at least several days. Presupposing continued progress, it probably would be well in the next week before he could look for restoration to good health.

SUN SHINES
His Majesty, it was learned, was again up and about his rooms today. He was favored by an improvement in the weather, there being periods when the sun streamed brightly through the castle windows.

His physicians, Lord Dawson of Penn, Sir William Rees and Dr. Henry Martin, all attended him today.

QUEEN GOES DRIVING
Nurse Black, the King's permanent nurse, is on holiday and her place was being taken today by Nurse Davis, one of the four nurses who attended the King during his former prolonged illness, but Queen Mary, whose unremitting care in the critical days two years ago played so great a part in the King's recovery, is again helping to keep His Majesty cheerful.

The Queen has spent many hours in the sick room each day since the King's cold developed on Good Friday. She left the castle just before lunch today, however, for a motor drive, in view of the improvement in the King's condition.

Capt. Watson-Armstrong Announces Programme of King and Queen of Siam

Chief Justice Macdonald Will Extend B.C.'s Official Greetings to Siamese Royalty

The complete programme incident to the arrival in Victoria of the King and Queen of Siam was given to The Times at the Empress Hotel today by Capt. the Hon. W. J. M. Watson-Armstrong, consul-general for Siam in Canada.

Capt. Watson-Armstrong, following his arrival here from Vancouver this morning, called upon Chief Justice Macdonald, the Administrator, and discussed with him the arrangements for the reception of the Siamese royal party.

As the representative of His Majesty the King in British Columbia, the Administrator will be the first to board the new levy at length at its last meeting and decided to get the endorsement of the Trades and Labor Council before proceeding with any court action. With the solid support of the labor legal opinion will now be sought as to whether the tax can be legally stopped out of wages. If the advice is that such cannot be done, the Labor Council will immediately proceed with a test through the courts, and if necessary carry the case to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London.

Evacuation Opportunity Given Foreigners as Portugal Moves to End Uprising

Canadian Press
Lisbon, Portugal, April 8.—Evacuation of foreign residents of Madeira was provided for and closing of all ports of the island group was ordered in an emergency cabinet decree published today.

The decree intimates all residents on the island who have accepted posts under the rebel junta set up there will be dismissed and tried in special courts.

The decree affirms intention of the government to suppress the revolt which, apparently instigated by political deportees, has overthrown the Lisbon authority in Funchal. An offer will be made the garrison at Funchal and the military junta there to allow them to return to the government fold, whereafter, in the event of its refusal, military measures, made possible by a large expeditionary force sent to Madeira, will be undertaken. PLAN TO REDUCE CANADA AIR MAIL SERVICES IS ABANDONED

Ottawa, April 9.—It is unlikely there will be any cancellation of existing air mail contracts, it was stated on excellent authority here today. The need for exercising economies in the Post Office Department, coupled with the necessity for overhauling some of the $5,000,000 deficit with which the department completed the fiscal year, March 31, had given rise to the expectation the government would reduce some of the unremunerative services, in which category the air mail service is understood to fall.

Cancellation of the contracts, however, would have entailed considerable hardships inasmuch as, in the expectation of a continuance of the service, several companies had incurred large capital expenditures in establishing air transportation organizations. At the same time the Dominion government has also spent large sums in the founding and maintenance of air harbors, radio beacons and such other aids to aerial navigation.

The new Talmie one-per-cent tax on incomes throughout British Columbia, as it is collected weekly or monthly, is not to wait long for a test in the courts. This was indicated today when news came of a move by the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council.

The information was conveyed in the following Canadian Press dispatch: Vancouver, April 8.—According to a resolution submitted by the local Typographical Union and carried unanimously, the Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening decided to contest the legality of the one-per-cent super-tax on wages passed at the recent session of the Legislature of British Columbia.

It was not stated how this was to be carried out, but J. Thomson gave it as his opinion it was very doubtful if any employer could legally deduct such a tax from wages.

THOUSANDS OF REPLIES POUR IN TO BUREAU
Staff Busy Answering Inquiries From Big Advertising Campaign

Better Than Last Year But Not as Good as 1929 Is Travel Prophecy

Inquiries arriving every mail at the office of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau have brought the total in response to the Puget Sound community advertising spread in The Saturday Post of March 21, to 3,317 and it is anticipated that this number will be increased to between 5,000 and 6,000.

With inquiries received from other advertising of the Puget Sounders and British Columbians Associated, 5,400 have been received to date and they are still pouring in. The newspaper advertising of the community campaign has only just begun and as 2,083 replies have already been received it is anticipated that a new record will be established. The 1929 campaign produced 3,067 replies and the 1928 campaign slightly less than 4,000. Most of the newspapers in which the community advertising will appear have only published two advertisements. Seventeen more will be published.

GOOD YEAR AHEAD
A prophecy on tourist business received this morning by George I. Warren, Publicity Commissioner, from the Puget Sounders and British Columbians Associated says the season will probably not be as good as the peak year of 1929 but considerably better than that of 1930. Conventions scheduled for the Pacific Northwest will help make the season better, forecasted Warren.

Forecasted Warren, "Alaska's thorough-out California by the Canadian National Railway, Canadian Pacific Railway and Admiral Line should have a tendency to bring considerable traffic through the Pacific Northwest this summer and as liberal stopovers are being allowed it is assumed many excursions will visit Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver."

In answer to all the inquiries forwarded to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau personal letters are being mailed together with a booklet of industrial facts and tourist attractions on Vancouver Island.

JURY DISMISSES HUNTING CHARGE

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, April 8.—A jury this morning at Nanaimo assizes, after ten minutes' deliberation, acquitted Roy Symons charged with manslaughter following a hunting tragedy at Salsair, Ladysmith, in which Thomas Porter lost his life.

Evidence was given by Dr. Baird, who described Porter's wounds; Mrs. Baker, mother of the deceased, and Charles Baker, Constables Hall and Shand gave evidence.

Accused stated he was waiting for Porter when he saw an object move in the bush. He thought it was a bear, as bears were reported in that particular district. He fired at a distance of 500 feet, and Porter's leg was broken. The object was Porter's dog. They were going home when the accident happened at 4:20 p.m. He said he had not had much hunting experience and had shot one deer.

The judge said he was sorry he did not have the power to prevent accused carrying firearms again.

True Bills in Three Manslaughter Cases Arising Out of Hunting Accidents

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, B.C., April 8.—The grand jury brought in true bills yesterday against all three manslaughter cases arising out of hunting accidents. The first case of R. McDonald, charged with the death of Norman Lomas at Cowichan on November 17, was acquitted by the jury after fifteen minutes' deliberation. Evidence was given by Dr. Weir, Dr. Swan, Constable Mustart, Constable Lashmore and P. J. Collier.

The accused stated that Lomas and he were travelling parallel when Lomas shouted, "Look out, there is one coming your way."

Accused ran clear of the brush, waited about a minute and saw a shape which he took for a deer, and fired.

When he went to see the result of the shot he found Lomas, who had been shot. He dragged him out of the bush and went for help.

Judge Morrison, before discharging the accused, said he regretted that neither the jury or himself had power to make it possible for the young man to carry a gun again. F. S. Cunliffe acted as crown prosecutor and C. F. Davies appeared for McDonald. The court resumed this morning at 10:30 a.m.

on them we prevent them from getting an education, in favor of democratic education," he added.

Dean Buchanan's talk was of an informal nature, well punctuated with humorous anecdotes. It was given before an audience of over 200 gathered in the grill room of the hotel.

He urged British Columbians to become "university conscious" as were provinces in other parts of the dominion.

Within the last year or two, he said, the university had induced one or two men to come from the prairie to the coast. The men had noticed that on the prairies the people were proud of their universities. In B.C. the university was criticized. Not that it was above criticism, but they seemed to want to hurt rather than help the university.

He quoted several instances of eastern universities and the aid they had received. Yet all the University of British Columbia had received beyond a gift of scholarships, was offering.

HIGH STANDARDS

"And yet B.C. University outshines the prairie provinces in efficiency," he said, predicting that when the results of research scholarships were announced shortly, the U.B.C. students would have a larger percentage of awards than the prairie universities.

What we need to do is make the people of B.C. university conscious. He declared, referring to a recent gift of $16,000,000, which people in the state of Michigan had recently made to the university at Ann Arbor.

"The University of British Columbia has such a record of achievement that it merits the gifts of wealthy men," he said.

During the evening vocal selections were rendered by Miss Dorothy Hartree, assisted by Miss Dorothy Morton at the piano.

COMMITTEE TO SURVEY
SCALE IN B.C. SCHOOLS

paying large salaries, he said in discussing the wide range of salaries in different places.

NEW PLAN

"After reviewing the whole situation, I am of the opinion that the plan which will be put into execution, whether by me or not, now we have changed the plan from a percentage of the salaries to a percentage of the actual salary paid to a fair level of wages," the minister continued.

While this did not assist the teachers any more, it did assist municipalities where people were paying high salaries for school purposes, he said, through paying a larger proportion of the actual salary.

In any event there would be no changes until September, 1932, as far as the salaries were concerned, since the basis for the percentages at present had been taken on the salaries as paid last December.

The minister pointed out at this juncture that if teachers were to increase during the year the government would not contribute, but such increase must be paid by school boards.

Under the new system which went into effect in September, 1932, the school board could not pay more than a level fixed by a special committee, which would investigate all schools and make recommendations to the Council of Public Instruction. To pay higher salaries the board must seek power from its city council.

The minister promised that the teachers would have just and proper representation on the special committee for fixing the salary level.

Another legislative change allowed payment of the government grant every month instead of every three months. There was a slight alteration in the rule regarding payment of a percentage of high school fees, by rural school boards in areas where there was no high school.

HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

The four-year high school course, said the minister, had been instituted as a system for students who did not aim at university matriculation. It gave a chance for a boy who could only take one or two years of a high school before going into the world.

GAVE HEARING, HE SAYS

The question of options, as laid down in the four-year course, was the difficulty complained of by high school teachers, he said. They claimed that it was not to be handled with the limited number of teachers allowed by the minister, he had asked Mr. Dilworth's advice and the matter had been relieved, although his recommendation had not been adopted in entirety.

Mr. Dilworth, federation president, in his congratulatory remarks, expressed the thanks of the teachers for the co-operation of the Education Department at all times.

Federal-Provincial Conference at Ottawa Approve End of Colonial Laws Validity Act

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 8.—Agreement on a course of action to be pursued in respect to the proposed Statute of Westminster, which embodies recommendations of the last two Imperial Conferences, was announced as the conclusion of the Dominion-Provincial Conference here to-day.

The interprovincial conference, which was convened yesterday to consider the terms of the proposed Statute of Westminster, adjourned to-day. It was agreed by the conference:

NO CHANGE YET

The official statement follows: "The Imperial Conference, which was convened yesterday to consider the terms of the proposed Statute of Westminster, adjourned to-day. It was agreed by the conference:

"(1) That the status quo should be maintained in so far as the question of repealing, altering or amending the British North America Act was concerned, and that definite safeguards should be inserted in the proposed Statute of Westminster to ensure that no power would be conferred on that statute in this respect.

"(2) That provision should be made that except as to the provisions of the British North America Act, the Colonial Laws Validity Act should no longer apply to acts of the Parliament of Canada, nor the acts of the legislatures of the provinces.

CONFERENCE PLANNED

"The Prime Minister stated that at some future date a constitutional conference would be convened at which representatives of the Dominion and the provinces might consider the conditions upon which the provisions of the Statute of Westminster might be amended or modified.

"The final drafting of a new section to be inserted in the proposed Statute of Westminster was submitted at this morning's session and its purpose was generally approved, but its final acceptance was deferred for two weeks in order that representatives of provincial governments might have opportunity to consult their colleagues with respect thereto."

PUBLICATION AWAITED

The new section of the proposed Statute of Westminster was made public, pending its submission to the various provincial bodies. Presumably it will be given out after it has been approved, unless it is approved, the outcome of the conference, the net result of which appears to be that the provinces have approved adherence by Canada to the Statute of Westminster, subject to submission to the provincial governments, and also providing that no interference with the constitution of Canada. The Statute of Westminster provides for a very material widening of the autonomous jurisdiction of the various dominions in the Empire. It provides that laws passed by the Parliament of Great Britain shall not be applicable to the dominions unless they so desire and state.

It repeals the Colonial Laws Validity Act.

SUITCASE IS TRACED IN MURDER HUNT

Vancouver Police Seek Bag
Believed Connected With Japanese Slayings

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 8.—Mysterious circumstances surrounding the deaths of two Japanese children, whose mother was employed in a private "hospital" operated by Shinkichi Sakurada on East Cordova Street here, to-day were being investigated by police in their effort to trace the alleged "murder syndicate" which is believed to have preyed on members of the Japanese colony of Vancouver.

Mrs. W. Kondo, mother of the children, talked little police, but her eleven-year-old son is said to have given the authorities much useful information. New leads were uncovered. It is stated:

WORKED AS HOUSEKEEPER

The woman was employed in Sakurada's establishment as cook, nurse and housekeeper. Two of her children died recently and the officers are making a complete investigation in connection with the deaths.

It has not been established whether life insurance had been carried in their names.

Sakurada is one of three Japanese charged with the murder of Shinkichi Watanabe, Japanese fisherman, whose mutilated body was found on railway tracks near Railway Avenue on March 30. The other man is Bunshiro Fugino. One of the trio, H. Hitome, was declared to have made a confession to police yesterday, in which he allegedly bare all the gruesome details of the attack on Watanabe with a sharp axe.

INSURANCE MONIES

Discovery that an insurance policy carried by the murdered man had been discovered by police led to investigation of an amazing network of finance and death. As clue piled on clue, the belief grew that a "murder ring" had been operating in Vancouver.

At first it was thought only one insurance company was involved, but later it was discovered several national companies had written insurance on many persons who police believe were marked for death by "ring" soon after the policies had been issued.

A statement that on the day after the murder of Watanabe a man was seen taking a briefcase out of Sakurada's house, is being investigated. Every effort is being made to trace the bag.

Police Chief W. J. Bingham has not yet asked Victoria for permission to exhume the bodies of three Japanese who met death under mysterious circumstances. Further information is being sought before the request is sent to the Attorney-General.

HIGHLIGHT OF DAY

Statement by the police that Hitome had made a confession was the outstanding development yesterday.

According to the police, Hitome, through an interpreter, described how Watanabe was taken by Sakurada and himself for "a walk." On reaching a spot near the railway tracks in the 500 block of Alexander Street, Sakurada engaged Watanabe in conversation. While Hitome stood behind him and stealthily drew a small and exceedingly sharp axe from his pocket.

He struck him on the back of the head, and he fell. Hitome then ran back and I call on Sakurada to hold his arms." Hitome was declared by the police to have stated:

"Sakurada held him and I struck some more and he fell down." Sakurada then told me to cut his throat."

He told how he had finished the deed with a knife.

THE MOTIVE

According to the police, Hitome revealed he had owed money to Watanabe and his death would profit him in two ways, for it would relieve him of a debt and Sakurada had promised him a share of the $2,500 insurance.

Police say the revelation made by Hitome was one of the first cold-blooded ever told at headquarters. Only excitement displayed by Hitome when he shut his eyes and graphically demonstrated how he had struck Watanabe.

Hitome's arrest might have been delayed or his escape made possible had he not visited the house at 629 East Cordova Street, where the "hospital" was operated.

Attorney-General Pooley this morning said he had not yet received an application for permission to exhume the bodies of the three Japanese, one man and two children, suspected of being poisoned in a Japanese "hospital" in Vancouver for the purpose of collecting insurance monies, and he would say nothing until the application was before him.

THREE RESIDENCES WILL BE ERECTED

Construction of a handsome residence at 915 Terrace Avenue, for A. H. Bennett, was authorized this morning by James Barf, building inspector. The residence will have eleven rooms and two closets, and will cost $11,000. The architects are James and Savage and the contractors are the Kennedy Leith Construction Company.

T. L. Swan this morning took out a permit for erection of a six-room frame stucco bungalow at 1710 Rockland Avenue, the plans for which were prepared by E. C. G. Jackson. The contractor is H. J. Jordan.

A frame bungalow of five rooms will be constructed at 1415 Cook Street by H. Harris for Mrs. M. E. Ward. The building permit issued this morning assigned a valuation of $2,100 for the building.

Act. It gives to the dominions legal authority to pass extraterritorial legislation. It recognizes legally the fact that the dominions are now grown up. The Statute of Westminster grew out of the Imperial Conference of 1926 and that of 1930.

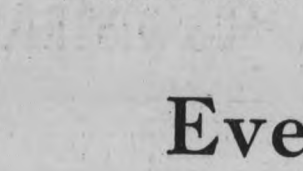

Assuming the provincial governments approve the decisions reached to-day, it will be the function of the Dominion Government to bring down the necessary legislation.

Canada's adherence to the Statute of Westminster. That will probably be done at the present session of Parliament. A resolution passed of Parliament for approval of the Statute of Westminster by the dominions.

TOKIO EVENT

He and Queen Share in Buddha Festival; to Arrive in B.C. April 17

Canadian Press

Tokio, April 8.—The King and Queen of Siam attended a flower festival in Shiba Park to-day in honor of the birthday of Buddha.

Their Majesties were welcomed by the mayor of Tokio, who addressed them in English. Crowds at the ceremony were both modern and traditional and the king and queen were dressed in the kimono of the old order.

The king, en route to Baltimore to consult an eye specialist, is scheduled to arrive at Victoria, B.C., April 17, aboard the liner Empress of Japan, and proceed to Vancouver the same day.

A shower of thousands of tiny white paper elephants—national symbol of Siam—were released from airplanes to mark the opening of the Buddhist celebration. Each figure bore the slogan, "Let us be kind to all living creatures and plants." A quotation from Buddha's teachings.

The fluttering souvenirs were eagerly sought by thousands of spectators.

CHILDREN IN PROCESSION

The Siamese rulers were greeted by Mayor Hidejiro Nagata in the balcony of the municipal building, facing Hibiy Park.

A colorful flag and flower procession followed, thousands of children participating. Then the Council of Buddhist Temples, national organization under the auspices of which the celebration was held, presented the king and queen with a white lacquered figure of an elephant, surmounted by a bronze image of Buddha.

The visiting rulers then burned incense at an altar as an offering in memory of the founder of their faith. This evening they will be guests of honor at a banquet given by Emperor Hirohito and his consort, the empress, at the residence of Baron Shidehara, foreign minister.

They will sail for Canada to-morrow.

CHICAGO TO SHAKE CLEAR OF GANGSTERS, SAYS
NEW MAYOR, ANTON J. CERMAK

He had flayed from the platform. He announced himself ready to "stop work for myself."

BULLETS AND BOMBS

Bedlam broke loose in the streets of downtown Chicago yesterday evening as shouts of frenzied CermaK supporters hailed his victory over "Big Bill," the master showman. Bombs and bullets added to the din, but they were fired harmlessly into the heavens. The outburst of enthusiasm exceeded that of Armistice Day. There were no disorders during the day's balloting or in the evening.

But for "Big Bill," Republican, who had entered the campaign after a bitter party campaign fight announcing he would never seek public office again, there was no cause for rejoicing. He smiled—a forced smile—congratulated his victorious opponent and then served notice that he was resigning to a rank of private citizen would not deter him in efforts to aid Chicago. "I will," he said, "redouble my efforts for completion of the waterways to bring to Chicago a greater prosperity."

Both candidates held that Chicago's future was the big issue of the race. Taxation and unemployment were talked about, but the cry of Thompson's opponent was chiefly: "Clean out the city hall and free the city of gangsters."

WET ADVOCATE

And CermaK, as wet or wetter than Thompson, is expected to battle to bring back beer to the city. That, it is known, is one of his principal ambitions.

With Governor Emmerson still undecided whether he will sign the state's new law repealer or veto it, Mayor CermaK probably will become the state's wet crusader.

CermaK has described himself as "the most dripping of dripping wets." A year ago he outlined a plan for flood control that provided payment of engineering work along the Mississippi River through repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and collection of revenue taxes on liquor.

MESSAGE FROM SMITH

Near midnight, as close friends coaxed Chicago's next mayor into bed, the first sound sleep for weeks, a telegram was received. It read: "Your election is notice that the gangsters must vamoose. Congratulations on being elected Mayor of America's second largest city." (Signed) Alfred E. Smith.

CERMAK'S LIFE HISTORY

Driver of a mine mule, "hired hand" on Illinois farms—that was the early life history of this muscled, near-six-foot man of fifty-eight years who came from Bohemia to Chicago when sixteen years old and carried wood "back to the yards."

Then he was "Tony," the immigrant boy who straight as an arrow, across council, state legislature and city board presidency, and to the mayoralty.

There was no trace of the immigrant boy in the man who heard returns declare his victory yesterday evening. Impassably dressed, the master of perfect English learned in night schools, in early Chicago days, he was, in his own words, the man elected to "restore Chicago's standing before the world."

He preached "America first," and the "principles of George Washington." He could point to his family background, the man, for he was the descendant of a general in the Revolutionary War.

He went into politics thirty-one years ago, a young man of ample means, among the ranges of the west, where success rode with him. He was a go-getter and he won to the city council.

He was popular, but no one thought him as a candidate for mayor until one night during the 1914-15 holidays he rented a theatre, raised the curtain and disclosed huge bundles of pledge cards—40,000 of them guaranteeing votes for him.

They had laughed at him, the older political heads, but he won the election by approximately that figure of 140,000. Until yesterday it was the greatest plurality of a Chicago mayor.

PLEDGE THAT FAILED

His first formal utterance after his election in 1915 was assured: "As."

"The crooks had better move out of Chicago before I am inaugurated. This town will be cleared of criminals so completely before the new administration is in power that the whole world will for once understand that Chicago is a safe place to come to."

For one term, 1919-23, Thompson was out of the City Hall, Dever being mayor.

TAX REDUCTION

During the campaign which ended yesterday, CermaK pledged among other things to reduce the taxes and restore the municipal credit.

Lisbon, Portugal, April 8.—The Diario de Manaba, a new government organ, announced dramatically this afternoon that the Madeira revolution had collapsed, that the Island Garrison was now loyal to the government and that the rebels in a panic, had solicited the aid of foreign consuls for mediation and protection.

It was impossible to obtain any confirmation in government circles, however, and there was a general feeling that the announcement was premature.

OTTAWA URGED TO MAKE NO CUT IN AIR MAILS

Regina, April 8.—Direct representations from the Regina Air Board, Board of Trade and city council, will be made to the Dominion Government in an effort to stave off the proposed government move to eliminate the air mail service, particularly on the prairies. The decision was the outcome of a meeting of the Regina Air Board held in the city hall council chambers yesterday. F. W. Turnbull, M.P. for Regina, attended the meeting and promised his co-operation in the matter.

The amount of capital from other countries invested in Canada at the end of 1930 was $6,375,533,000.

SNOW FALLS IN NORTHEAST U.S. DISTRICT

From 3 to 6 Inches in Pennsylvania, New York and New England

New York, April 8.—Selections of upper New York state, Pennsylvania and New England were covered with snow to-day as a result of a storm which crippled power and light services in several communities, and hampered highway traffic throughout the affected areas.

A wet, sticky blanket was laid from the foothills of the Adirondacks to Albany, varying in depth from three to six inches.

In Towanda, Pa., sixteen inches of snow fell in twenty-four hours. Light and telephone wires were down at Scranton.

New England the heaviest fall was reported in southern and western New Hampshire, where hundreds of automobiles were stalled, and light and power lines were out of commission.

Many people in the south of China have failed to realize the financial losses suffered by the inhabitants of the north since the capital of Nationalist China was moved to Nanking, three years ago. Shanghai on the other hand has much of its recent prosperity to its proximity to Nanking.

In Peiping, industry and trade have failed to prosper. Various commercial undertakings have experienced serious depression which, if not remedied soon, will deeply affect the social welfare of the whole country.

So the problem of restoring the former prosperity of Peiping is a serious one.

HISTORIC CITY

Peiping is one of the great historic cities of the Orient, with such attractions as the Imperial Palace of the Chinese Empire, and one of the proposals on foot would make it a great centre for tourists. It is also suggested that Peiping should be made an educational and cultural centre: the centre of handicraft industries, and the airplane base of China.

Peiping, under various names, has been an Imperial capital for nine centuries, with short exceptions. Its ancient walls are in perfect order. Those of the oldest part of the city are fifty feet high, those of the larger Chinese city dating from the sixteenth century, measure thirty feet in height.

Peiping suffered severely during the Boxer Rebellion and the seizure of the legations in 1900. Most of the foreign buildings and a large number of important Chinese buildings in the foreign quarter were destroyed.

DEPRIVED OF LIVELIHOOD

Enclosed within the Tatar city is the "Imperial" city, which in turn encloses the old "Forbidden City," holding the Emperors' Palace. The palace is a magnificent proportion and barbaric splendor, are probably not to be surpassed anywhere. The cause of the economic decline of the city is difficult to ascertain. The fact that Peiping has been the capital of China has made most of the people living there to be officials and retainers of the old government.

The removal of the capital, therefore, deprived a great number of persons of their livelihood, because most of the officials were from the south and north who had served under them had to suffer accordingly. Economic conditions in the city are bad at present; living expenses are high and many who have been rented cheaply. Unemployment is indeed a serious problem among various professions.

The National Government has been trying in some way to help develop trade and commerce in the northern metropolis, remarks Huang Ching Shu in the Chinese Nation. Recently a special commission, of which Chang Chi is the chairman, has been appointed by the government for the purpose of boosting the prosperity of the city.

ANCIENT CHINA CAPITAL FALLS ONE EVIL DAYS

Removal of Seat of Government From Peiping Leaves Gloom of Depression

Canadian Press
Shanghai, China, April 8.—Peking, the old Imperial capital, now called Peiping, lies resolute under the gloom of depression. Accustomed to its old prosperity, the present city has fallen upon hard times since the removal of the National Government capital to Nanking. Even the Provincial Government of Hopei has transferred its activities from Peiping to Tientsin.

Many people in the south of China have failed to realize the financial losses suffered by the inhabitants of the north since the capital of Nationalist China was moved to Nanking, three years ago. Shanghai on the other hand has much of its recent prosperity to its proximity to Nanking.

INCOME TAX INDICTMENTS AT NEW YORK

New York, April 8.—Just as in Chicago, where the federal government indicted at Ralph Capone and other racketeers through their pocketbooks, government agents here have obtained an indictment naming Emanuel H. Kessler, once called "King of the Bootleggers," for failure to file a 1928 income tax return.

During that year, the district attorney's office charges, Kessler had an income of $205,661, which he failed to report. Federal District Attorney Medley to-day called the action against Kessler another "racketeer indictment."

On Monday an indictment was returned against Albert H. Carlisle, president of the Bond Shares Fiscal Corporation, who was accused of failing to file tax returns for 1927 and 1928. Agents of the government spoke of Carlisle's business as a "stock racket."

HOSPITAL COSTS ARE MOUNTING

Dominion Official Report Shows Rates Increased Most in Public Wards

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 8.—Almost unbroken advance in hospital costs and charges between 1913 and 1929 is shown in a report issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The report is based on returns received from 198 hospitals in Canada. Rates charged in 1929 were 6.6 per cent higher than in 1913.

Survey of the changes which occurred in 1929 revealed the greatest increases in rates were for public wards. Semi-private room rates were shown as a little higher than in 1913. Operating room charges remained almost stationary. Average cost of maintenance per patient per day advanced again and was 110 per cent above the figure given for 1913.

An average of the public ward charges made in 1929 amounted to $2.08, compared with $1.95 in 1928 and $1.02 in 1913. Provincial average rates in 1929 ranged between $1.50 for Prince Edward Island and $2.52 for British Columbia.

Semi-private room charges moved but slightly from an average of $2.85 in 1928 to $2.87 in 1929. The range of provincial rates was $2.20 for Ontario and $3.52 for Alberta. Private room charges averaged $5.23 for the Dominion in 1929, as against $5.25 in 1928. Moderate reductions for Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Alberta.

Operating room charges obtained by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for major and minor operations, were $8.37 in 1929 as against $8.36 in 1928. Average advanced slightly for Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, but otherwise were unchanged.

Average cost of maintenance per patient per day as indicated by the returns received mounted from $3.49 in 1928 to $3.62 in 1929.

GOVERNOR TO BE GUEST AT OTTAWA DINNER

Earl and Countess of Bessborough Accept Premier Bennett's Invitation

Ottawa, April 8.—The Earl and Countess of Bessborough will be guests of Premier B. Bennett and his sister, Miss Mildred Bennett, at a dinner this evening. All of the Privy Counsellors now in the capital and their wives will be present to meet the new Governor-General and the Countess. Tables will be set for sixty.

The Governor-General spent part of yesterday afternoon having a first-hand view of his home for the next five years.

Before reaching Rideau Hall, the Earl enjoyed a long stroll around the spacious grounds surrounding the official residence. The sun beamed warmly on the water, and the Earl and Countess walked vigorously about the grounds and explored the various buildings.

The Countess meanwhile was enjoying a well-deserved rest. She appeared much refreshed and was most gracious when, with the Earl, she received the provincial premiers at tea in the late afternoon. In the evening members of the Government House staff and their wives dined with the Earl and Countess at a "family party."

J. R. DOUGALL OF C.P.R. DIES

Montreal, April 8.—A colorful and popular figure in the mining, farming and railway life of Canada passed away yesterday afternoon with the death at his home in St. Anne de Bellevue, after brief illness, of James Robert Dougall, special representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Born fifty-nine years ago in the Old County of Scottish parents, Mr. Dougall came to Canada and entered the service of the Western Canada Collieries Limited at Blairmore, Alberta, in 1900. In 1902 he married Miss Alice Walker of Georgetown, Ont., who survives him. In 1911 he became manager of the Davenport coal mine in the Crow's Nest Pass district and also engaged in extensive ranching in neighboring territory.

Entering the Canadian Pacific Railway service in Winnipeg September 6, 1915, as general agricultural agent, he served in that capacity in the west until March 1, 1919, when he was transferred to Montreal in the same capacity. He held that appointment until January 1, 1930, when he was appointed special representative and was a well-known figure throughout Canada, whether in Montreal, Ottawa or in the broad lands of the Canadian west, which he knew so well.

In addition to the widow, he is survived by four sons and two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Margaret Munson of New York City, and James, Robert, Isabel, Donald and George, all of St. Anne de Bellevue.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon and interment will be in Lakeview Cemetery.

FARMERS WILL AGAIN FIND PROSPERITY

Senator D. E. Riley of Alberta Says Determination Marks Work of Prairie People

Canadian Press
Montreal, April 8.—Difficulties on the prairies, while trying enough, were far short of breaking the spirit of a pioneer race which forged prosperity with a slow toll and unqualified confidence in the future of the land. Senator Daniel E. Riley, rancher of High River, Alberta, and president of the Western Stock Growers' Association, said in an interview here yesterday.

"Farmers who have been attending to business are all right," he declared. "Only the farmers who borrowed money and now had interest charges to carry for having sought a short-cut to prosperity in the broker's office were in serious trouble, he said. The rest had seen worse days, or at least days as bad."

BANK LOANS

In regard to banks and loans, Senator Riley said: "I believe they have been too liberal in the past and to-day they may be leaning a little too far the other way."

"While it is true that in certain districts there are hardships because of crop failures and the low prices—difficulties in Saskatchewan rather than in Alberta—there is not the spirit of pessimism which some would impute to the west as a whole," he said. "This optimism and the grim determination to make good which distinguished the pioneers in the west is still alive. The same attitude underlies the activity of the westerners to-day."

DROUGHT KILLS THOUSANDS IN IRAK DISTRICT

Bombay, India, April 8.—According to a Bagdad dispatch to the newspaper Times of India, thousands of tribesmen and their stock are dying of thirst and starvation in the worst drought in the history of the southern Iraq desert.

Women and babies are stated to be dying by the score, while many shepherd tribesmen resemble living skeletons. The lack of rain has stopped all growth and not a blade of grass is visible.

In northern Nejd, the correspondent said, the same tragedy is being enacted and thousands of Bedouins have no chance of surviving. The summer season of 1931 was one of the hottest in the history of Arabia.

SEEK TO FORCE ABITIBI PAPER MILL TO REOPEN

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 8.—Efforts are being made by the Ontario Government to have the Abitibi paper mill reopened, said Premier George S. Henry, in a statement to-day.

The feasibility of opening the mill was largely a question of markets. Referring to the petition sponsored by the International Brotherhood of Papermakers, which suggested cancellation of the limits in Thunder Bay district as an alternative, if the mill was not reopened, the Premier said: "I don't think cancellation will be necessary."

BOARD TO FIX FARM PRICES IS ADVOCATED

Winnipeg, April 8.—Creation of a federal marketing board to fix guaranteed minimum prices for crops and livestock used in home consumption, based on the risks of agriculture, is suggested by W. R. Doyle of Beulah, Manitoba.

Mr. Doyle was one of several farmers who appeared at yesterday's session of the agriculture committee of the Manitoba Legislature and told of difficulties confronting the agrarians because grain prices were below production cost. He also urged standardization of farm machinery.

M. J. Stanbridge of Stonewall, suggested an effective means to meet present conditions was for farmers to make assignments under the Bankruptcy Act and retain the necessary exemptions provided by law, which would enable them to continue farming.

ELECTION TALK IN QUEBEC

Montreal, April 8.—A dispatch from Quebec published by The Montreal Gazette says that unless unforeseen developments occur in the political situation in this province, elections will go to the polls to choose members of the next Legislature between May 18 and June 1.

"It is most likely that on his return from Ottawa, where he is attending the interprovincial conference, the Quebec Premier and his colleagues will start making the necessary preparations to start immediately the vast construction programme ahead, which includes millions for bridges, highways and public buildings, and also to put in force several of the new laws which were passed at the last session of the Legislature," the dispatch says.

MORE JOBS PLANNED

Winnipeg, April 8.—Property owners of Winnipeg would be relieved of part of the costs of public improvements under a scheme passed by the city public improvements committee yesterday and designed to assist in relieving unemployment. Cost of labor would be charged to direct relief, paid jointly by the city, province and Dominion, and the property owners would have only to pay for materials used. The proposal will be placed before the city council.

PRAIRIE FARMERS START SEEDING

Edmonton, April 8.—Spring work started Monday in earnest, when J. Zender, south of Provost, started wheat seeding. It was learned here to-day, first was specially selected wheat of the Reward variety, and was sown in preparation for the standing grain competition to be held by the local agricultural society during the coming summer.

Winnipeg, April 8.—Reports of seeding in many districts in Manitoba are being received by farmer members of the Manitoba Legislature.

A. J. M. Poole, member for Beautiful Plains, received word yesterday that seeding was under way in the Kenwood, Bernie and Riding mountain areas of the Neepawa district, Glenboro and Stockton.

Manitoba is favored with more moisture this spring than other parts of the prairies, according to J. M. McKay, General Agricultural Agent Canadian Pacific Railway, and this is speeding on seeding operations.

Reports also were received of commencement of seeding operations in the Red Deer district of Alberta, Mr. McKay said.

TELEPHONE WIRES IN PALESTINE CUT

Jerusalem, April 8.—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency to-day said lawlessness was spreading in the neighborhood of Yagour, near Haifa, where three Jewish workmen were shot and killed Sunday night as they were returning home from a nearby cement factory.

Reports said unidentified persons were demolishing telephone stations and cutting wires between Acre and the Arab village Shefa.

The agency said the Palestine Government was more and more inclined to believe the crime political in nature and to consider as the principal question who paid the murderers and what was their motive.

STANDARD BRANDS HAS RECORD YEAR

W. C. LECKIE

Recently appointed a vice-president of Standard Brands Limited in charge of Gillett Products Division

At the annual meeting of Standard Brands Limited held in Montreal, Corwin Wickersham, president, announced that the year just closed has been remarkably successful, particularly in view of general conditions throughout Canada.

Sales of the majority of Standard Brands' Products have shown steady gains in the past twelve months, and an indication of the future is seen in the fact that, for the first three months of 1931, sales of all major products have eclipsed the record peaks reached in the corresponding period a year ago.

Mr. Wickersham also announced the appointment of W. C. Leckie, Toronto, as vice-president in charge of Gillett Products division of Standard Brands Limited. The new list of officers is now as follows: Corwin Wickersham, president; J. W. Horsey, vice-president in charge of Fleischmann Products Division; John Anderson, vice-president in charge of Chase and Sanborn Products Division; W. C. Leckie, vice-president in charge of Gillett Products Division.

Mr. Leckie has been actively connected with the marketing of Gillett Products: Magic Baking Powder, Gillett's Lye, Royal Yeast Cakes, etc., for many years, having served, previous to the merging of E. W. Gillett Company Ltd. into Standard Brands Limited, as vice-president and general manager of the former organization.

NEWEST STEPS OF SCIENTISTS ARE DESCRIBED

General Electric Research Engineer Addresses Luncheon Audience at Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., April 8.—What is the world coming to? L. A. Hawkins, executive engineer of the General Electric Company's research laboratories at Schenectady, N.Y., gave a few hints here yesterday as he talked at a luncheon about freezing light, instruments which measure one-billionth of an ampere, "electric eyes" that sort colors and such things.

He called television "an idea so old" that patents on many essential mechanisms used had expired. Its popularization awaited only simplifications and cost reduction, he said.

The light-freezing experiments, he said, had been performed by plunging into liquid air, certain fluorescent substances which previously had been exposed to a cathode ray.

When they were removed from the air after six months and allowed to reach normal temperatures, they again became fluorescent, proving, he said, the imprisonment of light for the period.

The ampere-measuring instrument, he said, could be used by astronomers in measuring radiation from distant stars or in measuring the electric currents generated by the human body. The unit it would measure, he said, compared with the current of an ordinary fifty-watt electric bulb as two drops of water per year would compare with the flow over Niagara Falls.

The "electric eye," he said, could be used to control mechanical wrapping machines and for like work. Any variation in light intensity would react upon it so it could sort beans into colors and do other remarkable tasks.

Electrical experts, Hawkins said, also had caused an airplane to take-off, fly and land without being touched by human hands.

A tube capable of producing a fever, which might be used to combat disease, also had been developed, Hawkins said. When an induction coil and tube capable of handling 7,000,000 volts was found, electricians might duplicate the alpha ray emitted by radium.

23,723 WORLD-FAMOUS BEAUTY EXPERTS ADVISE PALMOLIVE

"Palmolive is safe and protective"

says

ROSE LAIRD

well-known beauty expert of New York

Rose Laird, whose charming salon looks out on the spot where Fifth Avenue meets Central Park.

"Other soaps may irritate," says Rose Laird, "Palmolive is safe and protective. Its vegetable oils make soap and water safe for all skin, however sensitive."

Rose Laird

NEW YORK, most sophisticated of cities, is adopting a simple rule of complexion care, on the advice of its well-known specialists in beauty culture.

Rose Laird, with her exclusive patronage and her reputation for performing marvels, Pierre, whose 57th Street salon invites only the elect. It is such specialists who've taught New Yorkers how to keep that schoolgirl complexion.

These beauty specialists—and more than 20,000 others the world over... find in Palmolive Soap a skin cleanser and beauty protection that just can't be equalled.

They like, first of all, its olive oil content; the gentle but thorough fashion in which it cleanses... the soft, smooth, fresh feeling it gives the skin.

"The glamorous freshness of youth," they call this much desired texture. Use your hands to make a fine lather of Palmolive and warm water. Massage this in, then rinse it off and you'll find you're rinsing away dirt and impurities that would otherwise cause serious skin blemishes. Use this treatment as a base for make-up... and you'll keep that schoolgirl complexion.

New Yorkers are taking this advice seriously. So are smart Parisiennes. So, in fact, are millions of women the world over. You'll find it both an inexpensive and delightful treatment, since Palmolive costs only 10c. a cake.

Made in Palmolive's Canadian factory, one of the finest soap factories in the world.

Mirbach, of Ottawa, recommends Palmolive as the most successful home method of retaining beauty.

SEEK RULING ON FOUR-YEAR HIGH COURSE

High School Teachers Want
Definition From Education Department

A definite decision from the Department of Education regarding the four-year high school course and a ruling that it is outside the jurisdiction of school boards to instruct high school principals in regard to the length of the course, will be sought by the provincial high school section of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, it was decided at a meeting of the section yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel.

The resolution stated that improper pressure was brought to bear on principals to make the course a three-year one and that a definite ruling should be handed down by the department in view of the fact that, according to department regulations, the four-year course was standard. It was pointed out the principal received the brunt of the whole problem under the present system under which his guidance was necessary to pursue the three-year term.

AFFECTS VICTORIA

This question is one vitally affecting Victoria, where the three-year term is in effect, and was brought before the body by the Victoria and District High School Teachers' Association.

The high school section held its meeting as part of the annual convention of British Columbia teachers here. The business included reports on the subjects of the accrediting of high schools and the reform of the departmental examination system, and that of teacher training for secondary schools.

These matters were not dealt with by the meeting, but merely presented for information. An educational department committee is investigating the question of accredited high schools for recommendation of students to university standards, it was explained.

Matters in the new educational legislation were discussed preparatory to consideration at the annual meeting of the whole federation this afternoon.

SEEK CHANGE IN PUBLICATION

A resolution was passed favoring a different system of publishing departmental examination results with a view to eliminating publication of partial passes until a student had completed his subjects and for a different grouping of the results.

Miss J. McKenzie of South Vancouver High School presided over the meeting.

The home economics and elementary schools section of the federation also met yesterday.

An illustrated address on "The Influence of Nature Upon Folk Dancing," was given by Major A. C. Hinton, physical supervisor for Victoria, at the elementary section meeting, dances being presented as follows: Russian Cossack dance by North Ward School girls; "Seven Jumps" by Victoria West School girls, and "Jenny Pluck Pears" by North Ward Junior girls. Two musical numbers, "The Dance of the Ibis" and "The Dance of the Fountains Mingling With the River," were given by Joseph and A. C. Hinton. Dean C. S. Quainton delivered an address on "The Use and Misuse of the English Language."

HOME ECONOMICS

The home economics section meeting included short talks by Miss E. S. Hathaway, Miss E. Lyon and Miss I. Elliott of Vancouver, and an address on "The Five K's" by Miss Alice M. Ravenhill, a pioneer in home economics education.

"The great thing needed both inside and outside the home to-day is service. Home is the training ground for the citizens of the world," Miss Ravenhill said.

URGES COURSE

"In England, which is supposed to be conservative and slow, it took six years to bring about the establishment of the first home economics course in the University of London; here it is over twenty years since the matter was first broached to Sir Richard McBride, and it is not yet realized," she continued, urging women to press for the establishment of such a course.

Miss Ravenhill traced the slow evolution of home economics from the times of the caveman down to the present day of organized social existence. One of the incentives to the care of children in the earlier times had been that the larger the family the better the parents' chances for protection when age overtook them. Large families were advantageous, and therefore it was sound economic policy to have them and save them. The origin of marketing through barter and exchange; the origin of roads and provision of protection for roads, and the springing into existence of communities, police protection, fire protection, schools and other privileges were rehearsed. All had their origin in the primitive home, as did also the care and distribution of the income, and, finally, religion.

"In these days when people talk glibly about abolishing the home, it is well for us to bear in mind that nothing can be substituted for the home. And although the more serious-minded people look upon the home as the originator of all we have gained in civilization, yet homemakers are, on the whole, the most conservative people in the world," she declared.

OPEN POLICE SCHOOL HERE

With an enrollment of twenty pupils, sixteen from Victoria, three from Saanich and one from Oak Bay, the first police school of this city was opened at headquarters by Chief Thomas Heatley yesterday evening.

After outlining some of the duties of an officer on and off the street, the chief sketched the programme for the school, which will be in session every second Tuesday under present arrangements. In the near future the classes may gather every week.

Co-operation has been promised by Inspector Parsons of the Provincial Police, who has consented to address the students; Corporal Gline, of the provincial force, and instructor at Douglas House, City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison, and Chief of Police John Syme of the Oak Bay Police, the chief stated. Prominent local barristers had also promised to address the classes from time to time.

REFINANCING LOAN APPROVED

City Council Yesterday
Passed By-law to Borrow
$200,000

Ald. R. T. Williams Urged
Delay Until Ratepayers Approve at Polls

Final passage of a by-law authorizing borrowing of $200,000, as a refunding of serial bonds falling due this year, was yesterday accorded by the City Council. The debentures will be for a term of fifteen years and will carry interest at 5 per cent.

Alderman P. T. Williams appealed for delay in final adoption of the by-law until the ratepayers had been given an opportunity to vote on the proposal. Alderman H. O. Litchfield expressed surprise, remarking that he had heard no public criticism of the projected refinancing of the serial debentures due to be redeemed this year.

Alderman Strath protested that Alderman Williams was seeking to "throw cold water on the project." He pointed out that the refunding had been strongly supported by the Real Estate Board and by prominent citizens.

Alderman Williams interjected that his advocacy of a loan for current requirements had been coupled with a desire that the ratepayers have the final say. He recalled that he had been willing to borrow as much as $500,000 on such terms.

Alderman Alex Peden remarked: "Here's a man hollering for something. We got the power to do what he wanted, now he says he doesn't want it. It is most peculiar."

Mayor Ansonb agreed: "Most peculiar, indeed," whereupon Ald. Williams protested: "I always wanted a vote. I am in favor of this measure, I am heartily—"

The mayor: "Ah! All in favor signify. Noes? The by-law passes. Adjourn? Moved we adjourn. Carried."

GOODYEAR HAD MUCH BUSINESS

Great Tire Company of Canada
Looking Forward to Bright Conditions in 1931

Announcement to-day of the 1931 advertising plans of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada indicates that this company intends to continue its aggressive policy of last year.

In discussing the 1931 campaign, the first advertisement of which appears in to-day's Times, C. S. Watson, Goodyear advertising manager, revealed that newspapers are to have an important place in the company's advertising plans. He pointed out that to-day's advertisement is the largest ever used by a Canadian tire manufacturer and he questioned whether its size had ever been exceeded by a United States company.

"The 1930 experience of our company showed us," declared Mr. Watson, "that business conditions are largely what we make them. Goodyear advertising in 1930 was more intensive than ever before," he continued, "and Canadian Goodyear dealers, already the largest dealers in the country, sold more tires than they had ever previously sold in a single year."

Goodyear sales department officials who recently completed a series of branch office conferences found conditions considerably more favorable than would appear from current reports.

Jack Holmes is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. Ashley-Sparks for the Easter vacation.

Miss Shirley Clarke is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Frank Smedley, Goldstream Road.

James Currie is spending the Easter holidays at his mother's summer home, Dogwood Lodge, Langford Lake.

George Oak, Atkins Road, had his leg badly crushed between two logs on Thursday when working at the Wilfert Lumber Company's mill.

Ford and Bernard Limited have resumed operations at Goldstream on a contract for 10,000 cedar poles.

J. R. Hookham and his son, Philip, who have been staying at St. Aidan's School, have returned to Vancouver.

A vaudeville entertainment will be held at Langford Lakeside on Friday evening. Among the artists taking part will be Miss Mona Jewell, solo danseuse, and several of her pupils; Mrs. Fred Parsons, Mr. Gonnason, Ruben Hardy and others. Two amusing sketches and "The Old Grey Bonnet" will be included in the programme.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Boyes with their two children, Margaret and David, from Vancouver are visiting Mrs. Boyes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Moir of "Cherry Bank," Langford Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Buttress and daughters are residing at their summer bungalow on Leigh Road, Langford Lake.

New Oil Law Causes Company to Quit Colombian Field

Bogota, Colombia, April 8.—The Texas Petroleum Company will withdraw its field staff from Colombia because of the country's new oil law, James Terry Duce, the field's manager, said to-day. He asserted that under the new regulation it was impossible to operate longer.

Geologists who have been prospecting in Colombia for the past four years, will be shifted to the company's other developments in the United States and Venezuela.

COUNT OF PARIS WED YESTERDAY

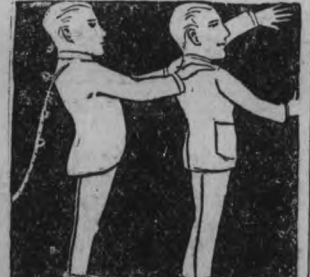

Palermo, Sicily, April 8.—Prince Henri, Count of Paris and Prince Isabelle of Orleans and Braganza, both descendants of the last King of France, were married here this forenoon in a ceremony witnessed by many of the highest aristocracy and nobility of Europe.

The ceremony was performed by Cardinal Lavitrano, Archbishop of Palermo, who at first had withdrawn from the wedding arrangements in a protest of the Holy See against attendance of two editors considered inimical to the church.

The wedding took place in the cathedral at Palermo, near the Villa D'Aumale, which is property of the French crown. Those present included representatives of most of the royal houses of Europe, both those still ruling and those deposed, and of almost every other noble and aristocratic house of the continent.

New Westminster, April 8.—Officers for the ensuing year elected at the close of the annual meeting of the Graduate Nurses' Association of British Columbia, held at the nurses' home in the Royal Columbia Hospital, included return of the chief executive body by acclamation as follows: President, Miss M. P. Campbell, R.N.; first vice-president, Miss Elizabeth Breeze, R.N.; second vice-president, Miss Grace Fairley, R.N.; secretary, Miss M. Dutton, R.N.; registrar, Miss Helen Randall, R.N.; convener of nursing committee, Miss M. Gary, R.N.

As a result of election the following were chosen: Convener of public health committee, Miss Margaret Kerr, R.N.; convener of private duty nursing committee, Miss I. McVicar, R.N.; councilors, Miss J. Archibald, Miss M. Duffield, R.N.; Miss A. L. Boggs, R.N., and Miss L. McAllister, R.N.

Joint meetings of the public health, nursing education, and private duty nursing committees yesterday afternoon comprised the activities of the day. The speakers were heard on subjects of vital importance to the nursing profession, FOOD AND FADDISTS.

Taking as her subject the "Four F's," Miss Ethel C. Pipes, R.N., dietitian at the Vancouver General Hospital, traced the history of food and its relation to illness from pre-historic times. She said in part: "While dietetics and nutrition are making contributions to the happiness and well-being of mankind in the building of strong bodies, and the prevention and cure of disease, their progress is sadly hampered by the faddist and the charlatan who find them fruitful fields for exploitation. The wave of popularity has pushed dietotherapy from its embryonic stages into a paying proposition."

Speaking of the diet fad among young girls, the speaker said "a boyish figure is said to look well in a casket, but who wants to be in a casket?" With the discovery of vitamins, she said some almost miraculous cures have been made, bringing vitamins much to the fore. But with superstitions, old theories, new theories and theories to be unfolded, we feel that dietetics presents most interesting laboratory study. As long as we are human beings we will have foods, facts, fads and fancies, she concluded.

Dr. W. A. Roberts of New Westminster gave an interesting address, taking as his subject, "Emotional Man and How to Nurse Him." He explained the various types of individuals and said that the patient and nurse must work together in getting good results, and that each man must be treated according to his particular temperament or mood.

Dr. Roberts demonstrated how the mind developed like the body and showed that during illness, the mind was always affected in some particular way, "until we can keep our mind in gear, and educate our subconscious mind, we as a race shall never be happy," he said.

Dean H. T. J. Coleman of the University of British Columbia, based his remarks on "The wider conception of professional service," and stated that nursing service compared favorably with the larger conception of service in general.

TRAINING SCHOOLS
Featuring the evening session was the report of Miss Helen Randall, as inspector of training schools in British Columbia, who stated that there were in the province seventeen training schools of nurses with a total of 900 students, and that the schools at Vernon and the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan had been closed.

Since 1919, Miss Randall stated improvements had been made in accommodation for nurses in new residential buildings, outstanding among these being St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, and the Royal Columbian Hospital in New Westminster. Revelstoke and Vancouver, which both were in sadly overcrowded conditions were the only ones who had not as yet secured new buildings.

Mention was made of the special six-year course at the University of B.C. and of the post graduate course at the Mental Hospital, which is opening up one of the newest and largest fields for nurses. With an estimate of over 50 per cent of the hospital beds in all Canada being devoted to mental cases.

Mrs. J. L. Thompson Chosen New President at Annual Meeting Yesterday Evening

Mrs. J. L. Thompson was elected president, by acclamation, of the Victoria subdivision Catholic Women's League at the annual meeting held in the library of the Bishop's Palace yesterday evening in succession to Mrs. W. C. McManus, whose term of two years has been most successfully completed. Mrs. Blair Reid was also elected first vice-president, with Mrs. H. Hartnell as second vice-president and Mrs. E. M. Cavin as third vice-president. Members of the council to be, Mrs. Sealing, Mrs. Maloney, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. McLernon, Mrs. J. D. Kinsinger, Mrs. Steiner, recording secretary, Mrs. M. Service; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. J. Burns; treasurer, Mrs. Kyle Otto Weller.

The secretary's annual report showed a wide field covered in social service, and educational matters. Particular mention was made of the installation of Rt. Rev. Bishop Murray and of the new enterprise in the building of St. Louis College. The treasurer's report presented by Mrs. Kyle, showed the year's receipts to be $2,800, much of which have been expended in defraying the civic taxes on the cathedral property. Both the treasurer and secretary were thanked for their reports.

Mrs. J. J. Burns, corresponding secretary, gave a fine account of her stewardship. Mrs. Sabin reported on membership in which she has been responsible for a steady increase.

Mrs. O'Brien reported on social service in which a consistent effort had been made at all times to help others to help themselves by restoring self-confidence and self-respect, and showed the kindness of co-operation existing between the organizations for the betterment of humanity. A special tribute was paid to Fred Lansberg for his untiring interest in every case of need. Miss Genevieve Hartnell was thanked for her kindness in lending her car; F. X. O'Neill for generous interest and assistance. St. Joseph's Hospital, the doctor and the V.O.N. for the care of needy patients, Miss O'Brien also referred to special attention being given to the Indians of Saanich. Mrs. H. Canning was presented the magazine "The Canadian League."

and Mrs. Caple left by motor for their future home in West Summerland, the bride traveling in a smart ensemble of blue crepe, with hat and dress accessories in silk fur tones.

Mrs. W. Bayliss, Trutch Street, entertained the members of the Altar Society of St. Andrew's Cathedral and friends at a largely attended and very enjoyable silver tea yesterday afternoon under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. Sealing, president of the Altar Society, assisted by Mrs. M. Doyle, Mrs. Blair Reid and Mrs. H. Cannon. The rooms were charmingly decorated with lovely spring flowers. The tea table was particularly attractive in its Easter arrangements. Mrs. J. L. Thompson, with Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. J. D. Kinsinger, poured tea and coffee, and were assisted in serving by Miss Mary Hughes, Lillian Sweeney and Nellie Worth. Bishop Murray, attended by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Leterme and Rev. Father Cornier, a visitor to the city, were among its guests, and an attractive programme was given during the afternoon by Mrs. E. McQuack, who, accompanied by Miss Margaret Milligan, sang two delightful solos; solos were also sung by Miss Nellie Worth and Miss Humphrey, who is the guest of Mrs. Bayliss during the Easter holidays; Miss Mowbray Grute delighted all present with a solo ballet, and little Mary Doherty did some clever tap dancing. The fruit cake presented by Mrs. Bayliss was won by Mr. Hooper, 3390 Cranmore Road.

for which she asked a wider interest. The retiring president's address reviewed with gratitude the events of the year; the harmony and co-operation of the League members in every endeavor undertaken during her two years of office. Mrs. McManus referred to the work of Catholic women in former years and the extent of their success to be seen in and about the cathedral.

Rev. Father Evans, chaplain of the subdivision, was missed at yesterday evening's meeting, a formal farewell and presentation of a purse having been made to him by the members on Wednesday last on the eve of his departure for a two months' holiday in England, and a letter of appreciation from Father Evans was read by Mrs. J. J. Burns. A vote of thanks was passed to the press for generous publicity during the year.

The April meeting discussed the usual routine business. The report of Mrs. Sabin, hospital visitor, showed many patients in St. Joseph's and Vernon Villa having been visited with gifts of fruit, cigarettes, etc. Mrs. Devereux was appointed to act with Mrs. de Blaquiere as visitors for the coming month. Miss O'Brien gave a comprehensive report of current social service conditions. All bills were voted to be paid.

Mrs. Hartnell was thanked for her kindness in designing and supervising the making of costumes for St. Louis College boys in the concert programme for St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. Blair Reid spoke of the arrangements now being completed for the bridge and five hundred party to be held at the home of Mrs. J. D. Kinsinger, Fairfield Road, on Wednesday evening, April 15, the proceeds to be devoted to the needy.

Mrs. C. A. Sabin, on behalf of the members in the executive, presented to Mrs. McManus, retiring president, a lovely bouquet of red carnations and paper white narcissi, with the thanks and appreciation of all for her devoted service while in office. The new officers were formally installed and received the congratulations of the members. Mrs. J. L. Thompson, president, responding in a gracious little speech.

St. Mary's A.Y.P.A.—An enjoyable dance was given by the St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. on Monday evening. There was a very good attendance in spite of the bad weather, and everybody seemed to have a good time. The next meeting of the St. Mary's A.Y.P.A. will be held in the hall to-night at 7 o'clock.

SIX-HOUR-DAY IS PREDICTED BY SPEAKER

Dr. Willard Brewing Gives Thoughtful Address to Women's Canadian Club

Says Canada Being Driven
Towards State Control of Industries; Question of Speed

Predicting that Canada was being driven inevitably and irresistibly towards three things—first, the six-hour working day for men and women, with a consequent increased production; second, into some kind of social state control of great industries, and third, the inevitable thrown down of the barriers of international trade. Dr. Willard Brewing gave a profoundly thoughtful address showing the relation between economics and the humanities before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon. Taking as the title of his address,

"Our Speedy Civilization: Its Advantages and Perils," Dr. Brewing recalled the words of the old preacher in Ecclesiastes who said, "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong," as evidence that even as long ago as early Biblical history, man had begun to realize that the swift did not always arrive, nor the strong always achieve.

If a man who died one hundred years ago were to come back to life, he would rub his eyes at the speed of the automobiles, the swift transit of airplanes, but, said the speaker, that same man might well ask himself, "Are these men of this generation, with their speed, their multiplication of machinery, any better than the men of my generation who toiled hard, were true to their families, stood straight and true as the mountains, and opened their Testament in the midst of their families? Are these men any better as men, and what are they doing in the manufacture of manhood and womanhood?"

In amusing vein, Dr. Brewing recalled the fears which were expressed at the beginning of the motor age, as to the effect it would have upon the faces of the new generation, and the gloomy predictions that were made as to the coming of a race of people who would not be able to use their legs through addition to motor transportation. But human nature had readjusted itself to the change, and the speaker pointed to the present-day anomaly of the business man who, after sitting all day in a comfortable chair in a hand-somely appointed office, enters a luxurious car, driven to the Y.M.C.A. or athletic club, then waits ten minutes for an elevator to take him three floors where he takes exercise. There was an instinctive passion in the human heart for speed and movement, an instinct which expressed the adventurous spirit inherent in every-one, and which was reflected in the desire of thousands of young men to become aviators. Even the old world was racing through space at a terrific speed, observed Dr. Brewing. Claiming that he was not one of those who believed that all great thought was born in quiet and seclusion, he declared that some of the greatest thoughts had been hammered out on the forge of stress in the heart of conflict, that really great things had to be hammered out on the anvil of adversity, and it behooved everyone to pause and think as to what was the great thought behind the tremendous speed and pressure of world affairs to-day.

"PILLARS OF THE CHURCH"

"Even the 'pillars of the church,' who were such a comfort to preachers in the old days, are all moving. They have become 'flying buttresses,' and one has to chase them all over the place to find them," observed the speaker with a smile. "Yet these same 'flying buttresses' have merely developed a new character. . . . I hope that a larger and more divine inhibition will be born within the human soul to stabilize the flux and movement of the age."

One of the dangers of the rapid transit of the age was its tendency to create a superficiality in the opinion of the speaker. A man was apt to journey around the world in three months, touching every creed in the course of his travels, and return home with the keen edge of his convictions dulled and with a tendency to judge superficially instead of going down to the root of things.

RUSSIAN TRAVEL

Passing reference was made to Russia, Dr. Brewing observing: "Russia is going through one of the greatest human experiments the world has ever seen. Whatever we think about that experiment, if there is a spot under heaven which needs our sympathetic consideration, it is Russia in its hour of great travail."

TOO MUCH COMPETITION

The world was paying too heavy a price for its speeding up, according to the speaker, who noted that the world was in the unique position that its banks were full, its granaries were full, yet there were starving populations everywhere. That was the kind of success men had made of the social fabric of to-day, largely because machinery had so speeded up production that a periodic over-production was followed by a periodic depression. There was too much competitive spirit and too little co-operative spirit, which spirit was the only solution to the problem.

Dr. Brewing parodied Goldsmith's immortal lines, "I'll face the land to the sea, where wealth accumulates and men decay," into "I'll face the land to the sea, where radios accumulate and congregations decay," the remedy to the ills of to-day lay in the permeation of this mechanical age with a greater Christian generosity.

He urged the women to cultivate a sensitive and sympathetic understanding towards the workers who create the things which add to one's well-being and comfort. When sitting before a comfortable fire he asked them to give a thought to the men, who, often from childhood, have worked in the pits, and to the divers who risk their lives to bring forth the pearls which adorn women's necks.

SIX-HOUR-DAY INEVITABLE

Dr. Brewing foresaw the six-hour working day for men and women which was inevitable, in spite of the opposition, which had been just as strong against the eight-hour day.

"The six-hour-day is long overdue with so much machinery in use. Don't worry about the leisure of the workers. They get enough leisure hours—looking for jobs. I would rather see their leisure distributed over a wider area. If this were distributed more evenly, production could be increased by one-third, and that one-third extra production would readily be absorbed by the increased prosperity," he said.

Canada was being irresistibly driven—though it might not take effect for twenty-five or fifty years—into some kind of social state control of the great industries. The speaker declared he was not thinking of such a state of affairs as existed in Russia, but the shareholder system and the insurance system had so largely communized things in Canada to-day that some sort of state control of industries was inevitable.

The third thing towards which Canada was being driven, in the opinion of the speaker, was the throwing down of the barriers of international trade and intercourse, which must inevitably follow the opening up of the great international highways by the linking up, through rapid communication, of all parts of the world. The sheer necessities of a mechanical civilization was driving the world into a world brotherhood.

Mrs. P. B. Scurrah presided at the gathering, and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew tendered the thanks of the gathering to the speaker.

Mrs. Otto Weller delighted the gathering with contralto solos.

Oak Bay United W.A.—At the April meeting of Oak Bay United W.A. it was decided to hold a downtown rummage sale on April 21, and Mrs. Harvey was appointed convener of this event. Arrangements were also made for holding of a May Day tea and sale of home cooking in the schoolroom of the church.

Came Rebekahs—The regular meeting of Came Rebekah Lodge, No. 45, will be held on Friday at 8 o'clock. After the business session a social evening will be enjoyed to which the members of Colfax Lodge, No. 1, are cordially invited. On Tuesday Came Lodge will take the "Gavel of Friendship" to Ivy Lodge, Duncan; any members of the order wishing to make this trip are requested to telephone the secretary E8445 on or before Monday at 3 o'clock.

Quadra P.T.A.—The monthly meeting of the association will be held on Monday, April 13. Dr. H. S. Thompson, field secretary of the Dental Council, has very kindly consented to address the meeting. A hearty invitation is extended to all friends and visitors to hear this address.

W.B.A. Meeting—The regular business meeting of the Woman's Benefit Association was held in the K. of C. Hall on Monday evening with Mrs. McQueen Todd in the chair. The review welcomed Mrs. Caroline O'Brien, provincial field director of Vancouver. In an interesting address Mrs. O'Brien outlined the latest statistics of the order, proving its marvelous growth. On Sunday, April 26, a reception will be held in the Empress Hotel from 3.30 to 5.30 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Bina West Miller, supreme president, from Port Huron. During the rally the Pioneer Club will act as a reception committee and the pages will be picked from the juniors. Mayor Anson has kindly consented to open the rally, at which an unusually large number of members from all over British Columbia are expected to be present, including a splendid choir from Vancouver reviews. After the close of the rally Mrs. Le Gallais, health supervisor, will remain in Victoria for two days conducting a health clinic.

Strawberry Vale W.I. Doing Much Community Work

The members of Strawberry Vale Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting at the hall on Wilkinson Road with a fair attendance, and the president, Mrs. W. M. Foster, presiding. A quantity of correspondence received, one most appealing to the members being that from the Salvation Army and telling of the wonderful work of that organization. The secretary was instructed to make arrangements to have Adjutant Sharp address a meeting to be held in the evening at the Institute Hall at an early date, and to which the public is cordially invited. A collection will be taken and handed over to the Salvation Army to help in this most deserving cause.

Mrs. Groutage reported on the series of card parties held during the winter months, which resulted in a gratifying sum being added to the funds of the institute. Not only have the card parties been a success financially, but much regret was expressed by those who enjoyed the games at the idea of their being discontinued, and the members decided to carry on for some time. The next card party will be held at the Institute Hall on Wilkinson Road on Tuesday evening, April 14, and every alternate Tuesday until further notice. Good prizes are always given, refreshments assured all who attend. Mrs. Williams moved a very hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Groutage and to the ladies who assisted in making those social gatherings so popular.

A boys' basketball club was granted permission to use the hall at Strawberry Vale for their games. Another parcel of clothing will be sent off as soon as possible to deserving cases. Mrs. Foster or any of the members would appreciate hearing of anyone who has summer clothing discarded in good condition for either children or adults.

At the conclusion of the business Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Williams served afternoon tea and a pleasant social half hour enjoyed.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

FORMULAS ARE BASED ON BABY'S AGE AND WEIGHT

Quite frequently, when the baby has been introduced to bottle feedings and discovers how easily he may have his feedings, he becomes dissatisfied with nursing. But ordinarily when a baby declines to nurse, it is because the food is so scanty or so difficult to get that he refuses to make the effort.

Mrs. R. R. writes: "My baby is five months old and does not want to nurse. He will take a mouthful and then turn away. I just wear myself out with him. Would you suggest giving him a bottle? If so, what milk and how much shall I give him? He is getting cereal twice a day now. I also have trouble with constipation and have to give him enemas every day. Thank you for your advice."

MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE

I have not the slightest inkling of the baby's previous gain. I find it impossible to tell you how much milk to use. Formulas are not figured hit or miss, but are based on baby's age and weight; so without that information I cannot judge how much nourishment he needs. The constipation is just a natural consequence of the small intake of food.

There are two suggestions I would make. Have the baby's mouth examined to be sure there are no sores in it that might make nursing painful and difficult. Then send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the leaflet on early feeding from six weeks to one year, and also the leaflet on "How to Figure Sweet Milk Formulas." With these two leaflets and the assurance that baby is well and able to eat, you can go ahead from there. Do weigh the baby and find out what he is gaining weekly. That is of vital importance the first year of his life.

SOAPLESS SHAMPOO

Mrs. J. P. L. contributes the following suggestions: "I have noticed in your column several times that mothers find it difficult to wash the child's hair without taking great care not to get soap in his eyes. I solved the problem very simply by using the white of an egg instead of soap. Hair dressers recommend this method and it leaves the scalp clean and the hair soft and glossy. This costs but little more than a soap shampoo, and is one nice way of using up the egg white when mother is using just the yolk for the baby's formula."

It has always been my understanding that the yolk was just as valuable for cleansing as the white. Why not use the whole egg?

Famous English Football Referee Gives Some Sound Advice

Declares Refereeing Easily the Most Difficult Task in Game

Referees Should Always Rule Players With an Iron Hand

Capt. Prince-Cox Has Never Sent a Player Off the Field

IN view of the recent troubles between local football referees and teams and spectators, an article on football refereeing by Captain A. J. Prince-Cox, famous English international referee, will no doubt prove of interest to footballers in Victoria. Captain Cox describes refereeing as the most difficult task in football. He continues by saying that every referee before he can make a success of this difficult task must learn one lesson. From the very start of every match he must convince the players that he is the master, and that he will stand no nonsense from anyone, player, spectator or club official.

Prince-Cox has built up an enviable record as a referee. In the whole of his football career, in the English Football League, the great and exciting cup-ties of England, Scotland, Ireland and France, in all kinds of matches, he has never had to send a player off the field.

In giving advice to football referees Prince-Cox has the following to say: "The players, I think, know that I will stand no foul play, that I will not tolerate argument; and that my ruling is Law. But I do not believe in treating men as though they were naughty school boys. When a player does something which I think is wrong I do not stop play and make him walk up to me to be publicly admonished. If I want to say anything to him, I give my ruling, start the game, and then run alongside the player concerned and tell him that I saw his action, and if there is a repetition, I shall take more drastic steps. I am always prepared to warn any man twice in this way."

"But this simple little thing, of not making a player appear foolish before the vast crowd, usually has its effect. I do not make him feel chastened, with the result that he returns my effort by careful attention to his conduct. On the field of play I am Captain Prince-Cox. Off the field I am friendly with the men, I call them by their christian names, have a drink with them; I will even let them tell me where they think I am wrong, and I will tell them my point of view. I am trying to tell you that I treat football players as men like myself. It pays."

"To you referees, I say, avoid all effects of the actor. Blow your whistle, give your decision, and get on with the game. Wild rushing about the field tends to make the crowd and players laugh at you. Do not be in a hurry to give your decisions. Once you have blown your whistle, you must stand by it. What I am going to say may appear dogmatic. You must never be wrong, and you must not change a verdict, after once giving it. You have got to teach everybody that you are right! Take an extra fraction of a second to consider every point, and then stick solidly to your decision."

"These are general rules of control, but no man can control unless he knows exactly what he is doing. Every point in the laws of football must be ready in your mind. When I go to referee in Germany, I go to the trouble of getting a translated copy of the laws which apply in Germany. I know the one or two minute differences compared with the laws in England, but I know those differences. Neither I, nor you, nor any man can administer the laws unless we have them perfectly assimilated."

"Now I am going to help you, I think, by telling you of a great improvement which we have just perfected in England. You know how difficult it is to see all that happens in the goal area when a corner kick is taken. You should stand by the goalpost nearest where the kick is being taken. You must be in position to see whether or not the ball goes over the line. You must watch the ball, which means you cannot also watch what the players are doing behind your back. This has caused us much concern in England."

"To get over this difficulty, we now bring the linesman, who is on the side of the field opposite to where the kick is being taken, to a position at the other side of the goal to where we are standing. This simple thing, but it means that the whole goal area is under supervision."

If these simple rules were followed here a repetition of Saturday's fiasco would not likely be witnessed, when the Spanish Thunders walked off the field in the middle of a match."

Spectators are sometimes the cause of trouble, getting the players aroused by edging them on. This is poor policy, as it sometimes results in a player committing an act that he would not do otherwise. Fans like to see their favorites win, but let them win fairly. A well-earned, hard-fought victory is all the sweeter."

Fortland, April 8.—Max Baer, Livermore, Cal., heavyweight, knocked out Ernie Owens, Los Angeles, in the second round of a ten-round fight, here yesterday evening. Baer weighed 197, Owens 185.

Lumbering Carnera Will Meet Sharkey In Title Fracas

Jimmy Johnson, Latest Promoter to Appear on Horizon, Will Stage Bout at Ebbets Field Brooklyn, June 10, As An Opposition Scrap to Stribling-Schmeling Battle at Cleveland; Winner Will Be Recognized as World Champion by New York State Commission, Which Will Reinstate Carnera.

New York, April 8.—Unless something happens to upset the dope, it appears that there will be two fights for two heavyweight championships of the world this summer.

Max Schmeling is slated to defend his title against Young Stribling in Cleveland, probably in July, and now it develops that lumbering Primo Carnera of Italy and Jack Sharkey have been matched for a bout at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on June 10, and the winner probably will be recognized by the New York State Athletic Commission as champion.

Helene Madison Sets Thirteenth World Swim Mark

Chicago, April 8.—Here's an item of news that isn't news at all:

Helene Madison, Seattle swimming star, cracked still another record yesterday evening in a race against time in the Illinois Women's Athletic Club, she swam the 220-yard free style event in 2:36 1-5, or five seconds faster than the seven-year-old mark established by Gertrude Ederle.

Miss Madison, out to crack every world mark for women, now holds thirteen out of a possible sixteen records.

TWO STABLES LOSE HORSES THROUGH FIRE

John L. Dodge, New York, Has $125,000 Worth of Thoroughbreds Destroyed

Crack Trotters Included in Loss; W. C. Went Loses Eight of His Stable

Lexington, Ky., April 8.—Hollywood today to-day was the only one left of ten brood mares owned by John L. Dodge, New York trotting horseman. The other nine, valued at almost $100,000, were burned to death when fire destroyed a barn on his Hollywood farm near here yesterday evening.

With the brood mares, five foals and four mules lost their lives. The total damage to barn, and contents was estimated by the farm overseer at $125,000. Mr. Dodge is at present at his stable's winter training quarters at Groveton, Ky.

Two of the brood mares destroyed were valued at $20,000 each. They were Hollywood Pansy, Dan of Hollywood Hamd, a leading three-year-old trotting horse, and Jane Dillon. The other mares were valued at from $5,000 to $10,000 each.

VALUABLE HORSES
Brood mares that burned to death yesterday were: Jane Dillon, valued at $20,000; Hollywood Pansy, valued at $20,000; Gazeida, $10,000; Fanny Stanton, $10,000; Hollywood Peggy, $10,000; Hollywood Dora, $8,000; Hollywood Bella, $8,000; Hollywood Hope, $5,000, and Diana, $5,000.

The fire wiped out Dodge's entire stock of brood mares save one, Hollywood Daisy. Hollywood Farm is three miles from Lexington.

Anchorage, Ky., April 8.—W. C. Went, turfman, to-day still had a thoroughbred to bear his colors in the Kentucky Derby, May 16, but smoldering ruins covered the remains of eight other horses in training, eight brood mares and two foals.

Mardi, his only Derby eligible, was left with five other horses at Churchill Downs, Louisville, upon their arrival from St. Johns Park, Florida, yesterday. Stall room for eight being unavailable, they were sent to the farm at Oakland Station. Yesterday evening they were burned to death with the brood mares and foals.

Fire, believed caused by defective wiring, destroyed his stable containing the eighteen horses. Mrs. Went and Anchorage firemen stood helplessly watching the barn burn to the ground, the intense heat preventing active fighting of the flames. Mr. Went, on his way home from Florida by motor, could not be reached for an estimate of the loss.

Sutter Advances In Net Tournament

Houston, Texas, April 8.—Clifford Sutter, Tulane University, qualified for the third round in the first annual net tournament of the River Oaks Country Club.

Sutter, top seeded with George Lott, came through by defeating David Peden, of Houston, 6-2 and 6-1.

Bruce Barnes, Texas University, got into the second round not having played his first round match Monday by ousting W. F. Coon Sr., of Kansas City, 6-2, 6-0.

Reports current for some time that Jimmy Johnston, who shifted his role from manager to promoter, had opened his battle against the Madison Square Garden Corporation by signing up a rival heavyweight attraction were crystallized yesterday with the definite news of the date for the fifteen-round scrap. Several kinks in the programme still must be straightened out but unofficial word from the boxing schools indicated that the commission would lend a hand at this business.

REINSTATE CARNERA
Officially the commission announced that Carnera, suspended after his famous "rango hitting" tour, will be reinstated "sooner or later." Unofficially it was made known that the reinstatement would be in time for a meeting with Sharkey and that the contract with Sharkey and that the contract the Garden will attempt to hold Carnera to his agreement to meet Schmeling or Stribling. The giant Italian posted a $25,000 bond which stood until the New York Milk Fund withdrew from the western show. The New York commission is not likely to recognize this claim, however, as Schmeling is under suspension here and the Garden is in the bad graces of the boxing authorities because of its connection with the Schmeling-Stribling go.

There still remains the chance that the Garden will attempt to hold Carnera to his agreement to meet Schmeling or Stribling. The giant Italian posted a $25,000 bond which stood until the New York Milk Fund withdrew from the western show. The New York commission is not likely to recognize this claim, however, as Schmeling is under suspension here and the Garden is in the bad graces of the boxing authorities because of its connection with the Schmeling-Stribling go.

Beat Monarchs 6 to 1 in Deciding Game of Intermediate Hockey Series Here

Jokers Run Over City Senior Champions in Exhibition Game By 10 to 4 Score

Rosebuds, outstanding team in the intermediate division of the Victoria Roller Hockey League, yesterday evening clinched their successful season with a 6 to 1 victory over the Monarchs in the final city title battle after both squads had won one fixture and drawn one to equalize the series at the end of three games.

In an exhibition fixture Jokers skated through Victoria City, senior champions, to avenge an old beating, by a 10 to 4 score.

Mugger's smart forward for the Buds, registered four of his team's goals, two in the opening period and two in the last. Monarchs failed to show their regular form and never seriously challenged the Rosebuds.

Titan-topped "Red" Lawson starred in the Jokers' win over the senior title holders, scoring five of his squad's goals. Del Munroe, his team mate, sagged the City's hump four times, while Danny Pastore, in the Jokers' goal, put up a splendid display to keep out all but four shots.

Ernie Scott refereed both games, and the teams followed: Carlow, Woodford, Holmes, Smith, J. O'Connor, B. O'Connor and White.

Rosebuds — Baker, Rabey, Jones, Sage, Mugger, J. Murray, Scott and A. Murray.

Jokers — Pastore, Bothwell, Delahunt, Rickinson, Lawson, Munroe, Tyrell and Wensley.

Victoria City — Dunc, Drysdale, De Biquetere, Simmons, Woods and Barnswell.

Racing Pigeon Club To Stage Long Flights

A series of races, extending from Victoria to Edmonton, will be staged this summer by the Victoria and District Racing Pigeon Club. At a meeting this week the members drew up final plans for the coming season, and the first race will be flown April 25 and will continue at weekly intervals.

The club is now flying an all-Canadian course, it being tried out last year for the first time with good results. The members are looking forward for a much better showing this year over this 600-mile course over treacherous country.

Anyone interested in pigeon racing is requested to get in touch with the club at its headquarters, 845 Pandora Avenue.

TOILERS HIT STRIDE AND CRUSH CAPS

Crack Winnipeg Basketball Team Defeats Regina 29 to 18 in Fine Rally

Eliminate Saskatchewan Champs 53 to 40; Will Now Oppose Raymond Jacks

Regina, April 8.—Regina's hopes for a Canadian or western Canada basketball championship were ruthlessly crushed yesterday evening by the mighty Toilers of Winnipeg who rode rough-shod over the Regina Capitals to win the second game of the series by 29 to 18 and captured the round 53 to 40.

It was a notable triumph for the Winnipeggers. In the first game, they were given a big scare when the Caps held them to a bare two-point advantage and in the first half of yesterday evening's engagement, the teams again took up the struggle and battled on even terms until the rest period.

The furious Toilers onslaught opened in the second half and from then on, it was Toilers all the way. The Winnipeg quintette have now brushed aside the threat from Thunder Bay and Saskatchewan and will now proceed to Alberta where they will take on the Union Jacks of Raymond in the western Canada semi-final series. The season final will be played at Vancouver.

Line-ups and scoring: Winnipeg — Dadds 14, Wilson 4, Woddy 3, Silverhorn 3, Thorsen 2, Phillips 2, Shea 4, Brown and Mitchell. Regina — McKinnon 9, Arndt, Bruce 3, Elwood 4, Alexander 2, Campbell, Kells, Cooke and Miller.

Windsor Bulldogs Hold Buffalo Even To Capture Title

Canadian Club Wins International League Hockey Title for Second Time in Three Years; Scoreless Draw With Bisons Gives Windsor Victory in Round Robin Series; Buffalo Finishes Second and Cleveland Third; Bulldogs Highest Scoring Team in League.

Toronto, Ont., April 8.—For the second time in three years Windsor has produced the winner of the International Hockey League. Yesterday evening the Bulldogs invaded the home rink of the Buffalo Bisons and by holding them to a scoreless draw, finished the round robin series with thirteen points against eleven for Mickey Roach's clever little team, to capture the King loop title.

Cleveland Indians finished third in the series with ten points, while Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets, who finished fourth in the league standing to qualify for the play-offs, failed to win a game.

The final game of the championship series brought together the highest scoring machine in the league—the Bulldogs, against a team noted for an unusually clever defensive system.

However, the Bulldogs showed they could play just as good defensive hockey as the Bisons when the occasion demanded and their close checking and steady rearguard work more than surprised the bewildered Buffalonians.

SMITH IS STAR

On the play yesterday evening the Bisons deserved to win, but their innumerable attacks met a stubborn Windsor defense and Smith in goal was impregnable. He turned aside many shots labelled "sim" by the nets. With in scrimmages, of which there were many, his cage bore a charmed life.

Buffalo jumped right into the fray in the first period and never let up in their attempt to score. The Bisons never quit, but they found it impossible to make any headway in closing in on the Windsor citadel.

Taught in goal saved on a couple of occasions when it seemed as if Windsor was certain to score. Lederman on the defence was a star, and on the forward line Gross, Voss, Roth, Lauder and Bogardus worked like trojans to try to score.

Smith was the big factor in the Windsor victory. He was given support by Bellemere and Brown on the defence.

LINE-UPS
Buffalo—Taughter, Lederman, Murray, Voss, Martin, Bogardus. Subs: Cain, Jackson, Roth, Cahill, Lauder, Gross, Godin and Gauthier.

Windsor—Smith, Bellemere, Bellemere, Haynes, Robinson, Dugid. Subs: Brown, Hingsperger, Roche, Lever, Phillips, Dunne, Huggins.

Officials — Mike Rodden, Toronto; Guy Smith, Hamilton.

SUMMARY
First period—No score. Penalties: Murray.

Second period—No score. Penalties: Dunne and Godin.

Third period—No score. Penalties: Voss and Huggins.

Overtime period—No score. Penalties: None.

CHILDREN SHOW ENTHUSIASM IN SWIM CLASSES

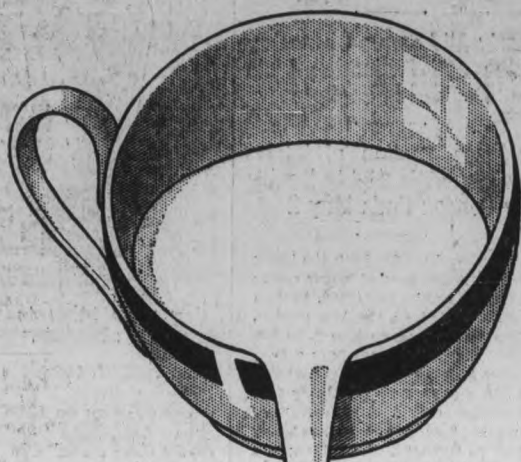

Young Boys and Girls Must Go to Crystal Garden on Same Day as First Lessons

Approximately 500 youngsters have now been initiated into the elementary stages of swimming and have shown surprising readiness in over "water shyness" in the Times second annual learn to swim campaign at the Crystal Garden. Early indications augur well for the success of the course this year.

All those who attended classes last week and are registered and were unavoidably prevented from going to the pool on their scheduled days, are reminded they must go to the Garden on the day indicated in recent lists published in The Times.

Although the course is still in its primary stage, the instructors, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ellison, have already seen signs of prospective swimmers among the children who have gone to the pool. Under their special system the teachers will be able to bring the majority of their pupils along to a point where they will be able to look after themselves in the water, and will provide them with plenty of fun while they are learning.

Toronto Plant to Supply Canadian Market; Company Formed

Falling in line with the times a new company has been formed to manufacture Cantilever shoes in Canada. The factory is located in Toronto and from now on Cantilever shoes will be a Canadian product, officials announced.

For two years Cantilever corporation of United States has considered manufacturing in Canada, but it was the new tariff regulations the company announces that brought them to a definite decision.

Fred E. Jenner, a Canadian, who for many years has been resident manager of the Canadian interests, has been made president of the company.

The company is promising a reduction in the price of from $2.50 to $3 a pair as the result of Canadian manufacture. At the same time officials promise to maintain the standard of the shoes that have always been imported from United States. With the Canadian distribution will be enlarged, additional representatives put on the Canadian territory and new dealers added from coast to coast.

Mr. Jenner states that the company is planning an extensive advertising campaign. The Hudson's Bay Company has been appointed exclusive distributors for Cantilever shoes in Canada.

FORD OF CANADA

East Windsor, Ont., April 8.—The Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd. reports a net profit of $3,187,876 during 1930, after deduction of all charges. The net profits were in excess of one and one-half times the regular dividend requirement. Total dividends paid during the year aggregated $3,483,816.

Total sales and other income amounted to $45,858,087.68; output, including sales to affiliated companies in British Columbia territory, was reported as 70,289 cars and trucks, and 2,186 tractors. The surplus account aggregated $28,426,955. Outstanding at the end of the year were 1,588,900 shares of class "A" non-voting stock and 70,000 shares of class "B" voting stock. This compares with net profit of $5,232,219 or $3.15 a share on combined 1,588,956 shares no par of class "A" and 70,000 no par share of "B" stock in 1929.

Total sales and other income in year ended December 31, 1930 amounted to $45,858,087.68 compared with $5,940,535 in 1929.

Production in year 1930, 70,289 cars and trucks, which compared with 87,791 cars and trucks in 1929. Tractor production shows an increase of 185 tractors over previous year.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Ancient Numbers

In a museum kept up by Harvard University is a clay slab which dates back about 4,500 years. This piece of clay bears many figures, made when the clay was soft by someone who lived in Babylonia.

If you should study the markings, you might have a hard time telling what they are about. The numbers used in Babylonia were very different from those we employ.

To help you decide the meaning, I might tell you that each circle stands for "10." Each crescent or part-circle stands for "1" if it comes after a full circle, but a crescent counts as "60" if it stands in front of a full circle.

If you had lived in Babylonia, and had used that system of numbers, you would have written the number "24" by making two circles and four crescents. To write "72" you would have set down a crescent, two circles, and two more crescents.

That system seems strange to us, but how would our system have seemed to a Babylonian? The Babylonians did most of their writing on clay, using a pointed wooden stick for a "pencil." If a mistake was made, the clay could be pressed back before it became hard. The Babylonian "pencil" was often round at the top. This it could be turned around to stamp circles and part-circles.

Another system of writing numbers was widely used in Babylonia. The Below: Clay tablet 4,500 years old, showing numbers used in Babylonia.

Below: How Babylonians wrote certain numbers.

Figure "1" was a triangle. Five triangles made the number "5," and nine triangles made the number "9."

Babylonian boys were taught a multiplication table. This table went as high as 9 times 59. How would you like to learn such a table by heart?

(Scrapbook club members may fill this article out history.)

To-morrow—Greek Numbers.

PITIFUL CASES SEEK RELIEF

Friendly Help Has Many Demands For Clothing, Food and Fuel

Pitiful demands for assistance are daily reaching the Friendly Help Association, according to its report presented at the meeting yesterday morning in the headquarters, Mrs. M. Culm presiding. During March, orders sent out were as follows: Groceries, 578; meat, 461; coal, 113; wood, 51.

In all, seventy-five families were assisted; and twenty-eight women, of whom twelve were from Saanich, and ninety men, of whom five were from Saanich, received clothing, and were also given jam and vegetables from the rooms. Easter gifts of buns, eggs, jam and candy were given to 100 families.

"We gratefully acknowledge the many generous donations of buns, eggs, jam and candy. These gifts mean so much to the children of the less fortunate. We deeply appreciate the kindly interest of the Hudson's Bay Beaver Club singers for arranging a concert to be held Friday, April 10, in the Shrine Auditorium, the proceeds to augment the funds of the Friendly Help Association, also the Kiwanis Club for offering us a percentage of gate receipts derived from the football game. Donations of cash, vegetables and clothing are needed more than ever, and will be gratefully received," concluded the report of the secretary.

Army Worms, Hessian Flies, Advancing in Mass Formation, Rout Shorts in Grain Market

Reports of invasions of army worms, cutworms and Hessian flies threw a crop scare into shorts in the grain markets to-day with the result that prices moved up a cent or more.

The close, however, was mostly just a fraction better than yesterday, as profit-taking and other selling came into the market in the last hour.

"Importers are covering short sales on rumors of possible increased insect damage in the United States this season, following the open winter," Broomhall report said to-day.

"Temperatures yesterday in the American central west were very high and growth has started to make some headway."

"Cutworms and Hessian flies were said to be abundant in Missouri and Nebraska yesterday at high noon."

"This early warm weather will help propagation of insects, but will also help farmers in their spring ploughing and seeding."

"New species of cutworms, which farmers say has destroyed more than a thousand acres of wheat in the vicinity of Hemingford, is now causing grain farmers in this section much concern," the Nebraska State Journal says to-day.

"Armies of these worms move across wheat fields, taking a swath of fifteen to twenty feet wide in a single day."

"Mild open weather has permitted the eggs to hatch, whereas ordinarily the eggs are killed and the loss to the crop is light, crop experts say."

"Serious damage from Hessian flies does not show up until the wheat heads are forming in the boot, which has been usual in most past seasons about mid-May in the fly-infested sections, but may show the decline in the late May or early June of the year," H. C. Donovan says to-day in his wire report.

"What does not turn yellow from fly infestation, but instead takes on a darker green color than normal."

WINNIPEG

(By Loran & Bryan)

Winnipeg, April 8.—Wheat: Prices were about unchanged at the opening but showed a firm undertone and a fractional advance at the end of the first half hour. There was evidence of continuation of commission house liquidation. This was, however, offset by a little buying by houses with seaboard connections and for foreign account. After the middle hour the market took on a stronger tone partly due to the unwinding of spreads, between here and Chicago, and some further buying by eastern interests. This put shorts on the defense.

Chicago was showing quite a strong tone. They appear to be taking some stock in scattered reports of insect infestation and in the dry warm weather that prevails in the spring wheat areas. High temperatures and strong winds were noted yesterday and only a few widely scattered showers occurred. Cash interests reported a fairly good demand for cash wheat and spreads on the higher grades were advanced 1/4 to 1/2 cent. Offerings of spot wheat are light as large holders prefer to wait for the opening of navigation.

Export business was very quiet over night and to-day, New York reporting 500,000 bushels worked which would be largely Manitoba. Winnipeg further closed 1/4 to 1/2 higher.

Coarse grains: The feature of these markets was further export business in barley about 500,000 bushels being worked. A small domestic business in oats was reported, but there were foreign inquiries for both oats and rye but no sales confirmed. There is no pressure on the coarse grains and offering continued small in cash and futures.

Oats closed 3/4 to 1/2 higher, barley 1/2 higher and rye 1/2 higher.

Flax: This market was firm but trade was light and featureless, closing 1/4 to 1/2 higher.

Liverpool due unchanged on Winnipeg.

NAT. BREWERIES UP IN MONTREAL ON 1930 EARNINGS

(By Loran & Bryan)

Montreal, April 8.—Again the Canadian stock markets showed fairly satisfactory results on the day and this despite the fact that during a good part of the time the lead given by Wall Street was far from satisfactory.

While there was an apparent lack of public trading participation, stocks continue to indicate that they have come down pretty close to bedrock and have reached a level which might only be violated under selling pressure of a most severe type. On trading movements the market gets good support on these recessions.

National Breweries showed conservative action following issuance of the excellent 1930 statement, but closed at 33 1/2, or within a fraction of the day's best.

Montreal Power got up to 63 1/2 in afternoon and closed firm at 62 1/2. The stock moved forward to 21 1/2, while Noranda continued to put up a good front around 26 1/2.

Oil stocks lost their vitality, and showed little change. In a good many cases where corporations are reporting sharply reduced profits, it is generally realized that this is due to inventory during the past year—a factor not likely to rank as serious in 1931. The poor showing of Service Stations, which earned $3.78 per share on common, as against $4.85 last year, reflected related poor results in the latter half of the year and also inventory readjustments down to March 15, 1931, prices. The company has reduced the dividend on the common from 85 cents to 40 cents quarterly, beginning July 1, 1931.

Laurentide debentures of Canada Power and Paper dipped to a new all-time low at 9 1/2, off 1/4.

EAST CREST UP ON TORONTO LIST

(By Loran & Bryan)

Toronto, April 8.—The mining market failed to recover from its irregularity in the afternoon to-day, closing with losses, though confined in scope, predominating throughout the day.

Wright-Hargreaves sold off at the close. McIntyre and Lake Shore dropped a few cents each. In the cheaper group Macassa, San Antonio, Murray and United Kirkland registered gains for the day, while Kirkland Lake Gold was down 3 and McLeod River a couple.

Noranda and International Nickel finished up a quarter or so apiece. Homestead Oil sold down 20 to 95. Chemical research lost 15 and Noranda 4. East Crest advanced 5 on reports that No. 3 well had reached the lime.

N. Y. Market Analysis

(Furnished by Logan and Bryan)
New York, April 8.—(Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau), says to-day:
SELLING CLIMAX AND SHARP REVERSAL EXPECTED

"While the momentum of yesterday's market is admittedly providing an excellent background for further pressing of advantage by the bears, I think we are just about at the threshold of that one characteristic day that invariably marks the attainment of a climax in a long drawn-out period of nagging by the shorts, while the reversal coming so suddenly that all of substantial gains are wiped out in a two or three-hour scramble to cover. One of the things to look for during any such day is distinct changed volume transactions, usually assuming a sharp contrast in turnover to the previous day's dullness. It may well be that to-day will develop along these lines, the main thing being not to use any heavy turnover which may bring the day as a means of adding to the already over-extended short position, but rather using it to buy stocks at what I believe will represent the lowest points for some time to come."

"Any such selling as we may see to-day or, for that matter, such as we have seen for many days past, I believe is as ill-timed as buying we saw in September, 1929, and for the same reason, merely in a reversed position. At that time, it will be recalled, the generally accepted business indices had already marked a high point and were starting down from a top registered the previous June. The advance of the market was admittedly good while it lasted, but the reversals sharpness certainly stands out as the greater consideration. In the revenue analogy found in the present situation, we are seeing the continued beating down of stocks in the face of the equivalent business situation, which is plainly showing that the bottom was marked off last December. The interesting coincidence in the comparison is that both market movements were forced against a fundamental business turn starting approximately three months previous, with the lesson to be applied to the present case being the feature of sharp reversal thus indicated. Those who doubt that the business situation is giving us the right indications, might well look to the sensitive indices rather than to the more basic factors which follow along later, those sensitive indicators being the textiles in the normal order of silk, cotton and wool, all of which have exhibited their proper sequence in turning up. Electric power production has given us its cue, while automobile and building activity are at least getting off their bottoms."

COMMENT

"Stocks to buy for the sharp reversal which I believe will follow any heavy raising to-day are American Can, General Electric, General Motors, American Rolling Mills, American and Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, and any material concession, U.S. Steel."

Why Canada Banks Loan to Wall Street

The call loans carried by Canadian banks in London and New York are subject from time to time to a great deal of undesired criticism, says The Financial Post, as it is a common belief on the part of the public and the average politician that the Canadian banks lend money in New York because of the higher profits obtainable there. Such criticism betrays a total ignorance of the nature of bank reserve requirements for, if these call loans were not maintained, the Canadian borrower would be no better off, contends The Post. The banks would have no alternative but to carry the amount in gold in their own vaults. This would not only mean a loss of earning power to the banks, but would also cripple them in foreign exchange and other facilities which they now offer the public.

If these critics would take the trouble to examine the government statement and ascertain the net amount of Canadian money which is invested in call loans outside of Canada, they would doubtless be surprised at the results.

Canadian banks had $442,000,000 or fifteen per cent of their funds invested in assets abroad at January 31 last. Critics would declare that this should be loaned to Canadian borrowers. They seldom look at the other side of the return which shows that over $400,000,000 of this amount represents outside capital on deposit with the Canadian banks, leaving only $32,800,000 as the actual amount supplied by Canadian banks toward a very important part of their reserve. This is only 1.14 per cent of total liabilities to the public, an insignificant amount compared with the real benefits which it creates.

Ratio of New York Stock Exchange member borrowing on security collateral April 1 at 3.58 per cent of market value of all listed shares; month ago 3.22 per cent, year ago 6.12 per cent.

CANADA PAVING ABSORBS PLANT

Toronto, April 7.—The annual report of Canada Paving & Supply Company Limited for the year ended January 31, 1931, shows operating profits of $305,908.09, as against $511,379.23 for the preceding year. Deductions of $150,000 were made for depreciation and Dominion income tax, leaving net profits of $149,908.09, available for payment of dividends on the 7 per cent preferred stock. Surplus was increased from $67,716.89 to $78,433.28 and bank loans were reduced by $60,000 to $399,100.

President Louis A. Merlo in his remarks to the shareholders says: "Your company has considerably strengthened its position in regard to gravel, one of its chief raw materials, by the purchase of the Windsor Sand & Gravel Company Limited. It will be remembered that your company had a contract with the Windsor Sand & Gravel Company for the purchase each year of a specified quantity of gravel and for acquiring complete ownership of that company approximately seven years hence. By the deal just consummated, ownership was obtained last year, and your company frees itself of a fixed annual payment of $80,000 and effects a saving of from $35,000 to $40,000 a year in operating costs."

Entry has been made into the Province of Nova Scotia, where two road construction contracts have already been secured from the Provincial Government. A subsidiary has also been incorporated in Quebec to pursue operations there.

Mr. Merlo says he looks forward to a good year in 1931, especially since a large volume of contracts on public works is being considered by public authorities to relieve unemployment. "To date," he says, "we have been awarded contracts for paving fourteen miles of highway by the Department of Public Highways, Ontario. We also are to benefit from the location of new industries in the border cities area as a result of the higher tariff policy adopted by the Dominion Government."

N.Y. Market Gossip

Paramount Public Corporation in 1930 earned $5.90 on 3,113,076 shares outstanding at the end of the year, against $5.78 on 2,685,313 shares in 1929. December quarter earnings $1.55 in like 1929 week.

Fox Film Corporation financing shortly will involve $75,000,000, of which $30,000,000 will be convertible debentures. At special meetings of directors of Fox Film and General Theatres Equipment, Albert H. Wiggin of Chase Bank was elected as director.

BEATTY BROS. PLAN TO DIVIDE COMMON STOCK

W. G. and M. J. Beatty, who are president and secretary respectively of Beatty Bros. Limited, manufacturers of farm equipment and Beatty Washing Machines have made a recommendation to their board of directors with regard to the common stock of the company. With a view to enabling the cash resources of the company to be conserved, they have put forward a plan for the division of the common stock into two classes so that the directors may have the power to declare dividends at any time on the common shares now in the hands of the public whether or not they are paid on the common shares held by Beatty Bros. themselves. Of the total authorized 200,000 common shares, 139,000 are now outstanding, of which the Beattys own 101,544. It is proposed to divide the outstanding common shares into 39,000 class "A" shares, which would include all of the shares held by common shareholders outside of Beatty Bros., and 100,000 class "B" shares, which would be taken by the Beattys in place of 100,000 of the common shares which they now hold.

The proposed class "A" shares would be preferred over the class "B" shares to the extent that dividends may at any time be paid on class "A" shares without being paid on class "B" shares. In no year would class "B" shares receive a larger dividend than class "A" shares. As a result, in no event would the holder of a class "B" share receive more by way of dividend than the holder of a class "A" share, though it is possible for the reverse to happen.

In all other respects the class "A" shares and class "B" shares would rank equally, having the same voting rights and being entitled to rank equally for share in any distribution of assets.

The plan contemplates that the first and second preferred shares of the company will be convertible into class "A" shares on the same basis that they are now convertible into common shares. It is the intention of the directors that upon the foregoing plan becoming effective a dividend of 50 cents per share will forthwith be paid on the class "A" shares. The Beattys recommend to the board that if the plan is adopted, for the present no dividends be paid on the class "B" shares which they will receive. Sales of the reorganization for the first six months of the present fiscal year are running below last year, especially in lines sold to the farming community. The company, however, has made substantial reductions in operating costs. Collections have been well maintained. For the first six months of the business year, that is, to the end of February, collections show a decrease of less than ten per cent. The company is in a strong position and is well equipped to take advantage of any improvement in general business.

JUDGE ORDERS STOBIE-FORLONG TO DELIVER STOCK

Winnipeg, April 8.—Two western firms are entitled to delivery of certain stocks bought from Stobie-Forlong-Matthews Limited, and now held by W. S. Newton and Company, liquidators for the insolvent brokerage company.

In a judgment issued to-day the Court of Appeal reversed two judgments of Mr. Justice Dwyer, of Court of King's Bench, and ruled that Kern Agencies Limited, Saskatoon, and John Gillespie and Company, Edmonton, should obtain delivery of the stocks from the liquidator.

Kern Agencies Limited in January, 1930, ordered delivery of 210 shares of stock bought from their account. The certificates arrived by mail in Saskatoon, but not in time for delivery before liquidation of the Winnipeg brokerage firm was announced. The shares were seized by the Saskatchewan authorities.

The circumstances were similar in the Gillespie case, and involved purchase of 4,541 shares in various mining companies.

The judgment to-day allows the appeal with costs as well as costs in the King's Bench Court.

Durant of Canada Faces Injunction Against Big Deal

London, Ont., April 8.—Durant Motors Inc. has ordered suit against Durant Motors of Canada Limited, and York Acceptance Corporation, restraining them from ratifying, approving or dealing in any way with the sale or proposed sale of the assets of the defendant Durant Motors of Canada Limited, to a company to be known as the Dominion Motors Limited, or to any company or firm.

The plaintiff organization seek a declaration from the court that an agreement between the plaintiffs and the defendant Durant Motors of Canada Limited, of November 17, 1921, had not been terminated, but is in full force and effect.

The plaintiff also asked as against the York Acceptance Corporation for declaration that a promissory note for $1,250,050 made by the plaintiff to the York Acceptance Corporation and dated October 30, 1930, has been fully paid and for an order directing that the note be cancelled and delivered up.

CANADIAN WESTINGHOUSE

Hamilton, April 8.—The twenty-seventh annual report was presented at the annual meeting of shareholders of the Canadian Westinghouse Company here.

The statement showed current year's net earnings from all sources to be $2,873,335.47 after the usual deductions.

DEATH SENTENCE APPEALED

Toronto, April 8.—Abraham Steinberg filed notice with the Attorney-General of Ontario of intention to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada, and on that representation T. F. Hellmuth, E.C., yesterday gained a reprieve until July 14 for the convicted slayer of Samuel Goldberg. Steinberg was sentenced to be hanged April 21 and lost his appeal to the Ontario Divisional Court here.

Now the thrill of a shock-proof shave

WHISK through your beard with a blade that glides like a shadow—caresses your skin—banishes drag, pull and vibration. Use a shock-absorbing Probak. See for yourself how it revolutionizes the double-edge safety.

Scientific Shock-absorber

Two inventions of Henry J. Gaisman—shock-absorber construction and automatic machine manufacture—account for Probak's amazing performance. Butterfly channeling in duo-tempered steel absorbs bending strains and prevents edge distortion when the blade is clamped in shaving position. Ribbons of steel are treated, ground, honed and finished in one continuous operation to assure utmost uniformity.

Satisfaction Is Guaranteed

Dealers the world over sell Probak on a positive guarantee. You get quicker, better, smoother shaves or your money back. Buy a package today. Use two blades. Kootenay Mine Plans to Reorganize

A summary report upon the property of Kootenay Florence Mining Company, two miles north of Ainsworth, on Kootenay Lake, B.C., bringing physical conditions completely up to date, has been placed in the hands of directors for distribution among shareholders with submission of the reorganization plan now being worked out. It was prepared under date of February 21, 1931, by B. W. W. McDougall, E.M., who directed development during the past three years.

Property consists of twenty-two claims, of which seventeen are crown-granted and is an amalgamation of the Florence and Lake Shore groups on the west side of the lake. A complete camp has been provided on the first bench above the shore and an electrical transmission line constructed from Balfour, a distance of 10 1/2 miles. Economical transportation at the Lake level is provided by Mancha storage-battery locomotive, while the shore is fully equipped with the machinery of the latest model. The milling plant, the head of which is at the Lake level, will require some renovation and improvement and will then be capable of handling 150 tons daily.

Above No. 5 level, which was the lowest entry before completion of the Lake level adit, it is estimated that 100,000 tons of ore remains, with average content of ten per cent lead, five per cent zinc and 3.3 ounces silver. By past operations, 80,000 tons was removed and shipped to smelter.

At the lowest of Lake level adit, started by the present company, 8,170 feet of work has been completed, the distance from portal to face being 3,935 feet, with much crosscutting and raising. It opens the main Florence vein over a total length of 550 feet. The dip of the shoot and 200 feet of four feet of ore, averaging 14.4 per cent lead, seven per cent zinc and six ounces silver. A raise was put up 150 feet from the face of the shoot and 200 feet of drifting done upon the sub-level. One section shows eleven feet of ore, assaying thirty-five per cent lead and nine ounces silver. Owing to the flat pitch of the vein and westerly rake of the shoot it is estimated that 800 feet of stopping ground lies between the Lake level adit and No. 5. A crosscut near the face of the Lake level adit is well on its way towards the Lake Shore vein, estimated to lie 1,100 feet southerly and from which excellent results are expected.

While blocking out of ore has not proceeded far enough to justify exact tonnage estimates, Mr. McDougall says that 30,000 tons has been actually placed in sight on and above the Lake level adit, and that probable and possible ore between it and No. 5 should exceed 200,000 tons. Several years' supply is reasonably assured on a milling basis of from 100 to 150 tons daily. Production on a continuous scale would be possible a few months after resumption of operations, which depends upon improvement in base metal prices.

REX RESEARCH ENTERS CANADA

Toledo, O., April 8.—The Rex Research Corporation, chartered recently, has acquired the ownership and control of five companies in the United States and Canada, formerly associated but independent in operations. It was announced to-day by Frank O. Moburg, president and general manager of the new company.

Moburg also was president of the five independent companies, which included the Toledo Rex Spray Company, with headquarters here; the Rex Company, Kansas City; the Payette Valley Rex Spray Company, Payette, Idaho; the California Rex Spray Company, Benicia, Cal.; and the Canada Rex Spray Company Limited, Brighton, Ont.

Toledo will be headquarters of this new corporation. Nine of the eleven directors are Toledo business men.

Auburn Auto Sales Double in Canada

Auburn, Ind., April 8.—Shipment of Auburn and Cord cars to Canada in March was equal to 98 per cent of the total number of automobiles delivered by the company in Canada in the first three months of 1930. R. S. Wiley, export manager, announced to-day.

For the first three months of the calendar year, Canadian dealers and distributors bought more than twice as many Auburn and Cord cars as in the same period a year ago, Wiley pointed out.

Despite the fact that America cars have been practically excluded from several important European markets by high tariffs, the company's European sales for the first quarter of 1931, Wiley said, have kept pace with last year and are more than 50 per cent ahead of 1929.

TRUST AND LOAN SECURITIES SHOW SMALLEST DECLINE

Investors in trust and loan securities have seen the values of their holdings in this group decline very little in the last year. The decline, in fact has been only 1.2 per cent, for the average of nine listed stocks, according to calculations by the Financial Post. In the same period, twenty leading industrial stocks declined 21 per cent. Nine leading public utilities declined 11 per cent. The eight listed bank stocks, with a decline of 4.6 per cent in a year, come nearest of any other group to the stability evidenced by the trust and loan stocks.

In a period of general recession in security values, it is inevitable that trust and loan stocks decline with others. But it has been demonstrated over the last two years that they are more stable than stocks in other groups.

Of course it must be noted that while the trust and loan stocks have not declined to nearly the same extent in the last year as have stocks in other groups, one reason is that they did not to the same extent share in the advance which characterized securities prior to August, 1929. The better class of these companies are slow to distribute earnings in their earlier years. The management's efforts are concentrated in building reserves rather than in converting profits into dividends.

Hyde Finds Farmers Regaining Confidence

Chicago, April 8.—Farmers' National Grain Corporation, government-sponsored co-operative marketing organization, earned a net profit of $666,269.84 in the year ending last February 28. Walter I. Bam, treasurer, announced to-day to the board of directors.

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, who attended the board meeting, said he was pleased with the progress in co-operative grain marketing.

On an extensive western trip which ended to-day, Secretary Hyde said he saw indications that farmers were regaining confidence and were showing appreciation for the farm board's aid to them in its stabilization activities.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN
AUTHOR OF
"THE AVERAGE PARROT"
"THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.
DUBO by NEA SERVICE INC.

It was nearly five minutes before the questioning could continue, for Dick Berkeley turned so sick that Dundee had to abandon his notepad and lead the boy to the bathroom. At last, seated on the orchid-enamel bench before the low basin, set in a big orchid-colored porcelain dressing table, Dick spoke to his friend:

"Ever been in love, Dundee? . . . And lose her? God, I'm sick! And I can't believe it yet. . . Not lovely little Doris."

When he was better Dundee helped him back into the bedroom, where his mother was holding out her arms. But Dick ignored them and slumped into one of the pale green boudoir chairs. Dundee took his own chair again and very quietly began the unpleasant task of dragging the boy's story from him.

With the questions deleted, and without the numerous interruptions which marked the telling of it, Dick Berkeley's story, in the form of which Dundee later reduced it, follows:

"I have been in love with Doris Matthews ever since the day I met her, which was Saturday, August 10, the day mother and Clorinda, accompanied by Wickett, Doris and Mrs. Lambert, came home from New York. They had been abroad for a year—and I think Clorinda, I mean, I think Doris liked me a lot, too, at first, though she never said so. She was always talking about 'knowing her place,' and all that rot."

"But as soon as mother hired Eugene Arnold as a chauffeur I knew I didn't have much chance. Since he was a sort of servant, too, Doris felt all right about going with him, and it wasn't a week before they were spending most of their time off together. I saw her as much as I could, but she never would go anywhere with me or even take a walk about the grounds at night. And I was getting crazier and crazier."

"Monday, I went off my head, I guess. I knew then I'd marry her in a minute if she'd have me, but she wouldn't give me a chance to talk to her. I saw her go into mother's room and followed her. I was telling her how much I loved her, and—"

"—and I guess I tried to kiss her, when mother and Arnold came in from a shopping trip. Arnold saw me trying to kiss her, and he went wild. He—he said he'd kill us both if Doris was double-crossing him with me. Mother heard the row from her sitting-room and came in. I was afraid she'd fire Doris, as well as Arnold."

"Anyway, mother got rid of both of them and tried to make me promise not to have anything more to do with Doris. As if Doris herself would let me! I told her I was crazy about Doris, that I was going to ask her to marry me the first chance I got. She had a fit, of course, and swore she'd discharge Doris as soon as 'Lord' Crosby's visit was over. I told her if she did I'd walk out of the house myself."

"Well, you know the rest, Dundee. I got pretty tight at dinner and afterwards, and when mother lit into Gigi I got so fed up I bolted. Doris was in the back hall, alone for the moment. The radio was playing, and I made her dance with me, and tried to get her to say she'd meet me in the tower room after the family was in bed. Told her I had something important to ask her. You heard her say she'd meet me. I didn't know whether she meant it or not, but I wasn't taking any chances. I went upstairs before the party broke up, smoked awhile and drank the whisky I'd sneaked from the sideboard after dinner. It was about five to eleven when I went up to the tower room. I listened at the stairhead and heard the Smiths saying good-night, so I beat it up quick, so as not to be seen. Doris had admitted she didn't have to wait up for mother, and I beat it downstairs to my room, had a shower, shaved and dressed for bed, too, without anyone's being the wiser."

"Well, she didn't come. I smoked six or eight cigarettes and read an old detective story magazine I'd left up there years ago—the tower room was my favorite hiding-out place when I was a kid—and then about midnight I must have fallen asleep, just as I said. It was nearly nine when I woke, and I beat it downstairs to my room, had a shower, shaved and dressed for bed, too, without anyone's being the wiser."

When he had finished Captain Strawn beckoned to Dundee. "We'll check up on that tower room right now, Dundee. Then, Mrs. Berkeley, I'll come back to your story. In the meantime, I'll give orders to the butler to serve breakfast downstairs and to have a tray sent up to you. . . . Yes, ma'am!" he added emphatically, as Mrs. Berkeley began to swell with indignation. "I'm running this house now, till Doris Matthews's murder is cleared up!"

CHAPTER XVI

After Captain Strawn had given his orders to Wickett he joined Dundee in the third floor hall. "Before we take a look at that tower room, I'd like to have a sniff at the shoes young Dick was wearing last night," he said. "As I said before, that crooked that perfume bottle over the girl's head is pretty sure to have got his shoes splattered with the stuff. Stepped in it, too, probably."

"Through here, chief," Dundee suggested, leading the way into his own room and thence into the connecting bath. "It was mighty decent of you to let me question Mrs. Berkeley and Dick, but I want you to know I'll be glad to play dumb any time you say the word."

"That's all right, boy," Strawn answered heartily. "You're doing a good job so far. George Berkeley is a mighty decent man in this town and I don't want to antagonize him any more than I can help. If you forget anything I'll butt in. Don't you worry!"

"Himn, swell room the kid's got! Wonder if he was lying when he said he wanted to marry the girl? His parents would have kicked him out of course, and he knew it."

"I think he was really in love with her, though who knows what his love led him into?" Dundee answered thoughtfully. "Well, here's his dressing-room. And these seem to be the shoes he was wearing last night."

Strawn took the fine, custom-made pair of black dress shoes and sniffed them, walking away from the dressing-room to do so, for the odor of Fleur d'Amour was strong in there.

"Can't smell anything but shoe polish," he admitted. "Now let's see the suit he was wearing last night. . . . Tuxedo, huh? Plenty of the stuff on him all right. Do you think the kid sister splashed much of the perfume on Dick?"

"Well, here's his dressing-room. And these seem to be the shoes he was wearing last night."

"It was a little circular room, two-thirds windows, which were draped with faded red velvet. The furniture seemed to be a collection of odds and ends, discarded, perhaps, during one of Abbie Berkeley's orgies of re-decoration. There were two ancient armchairs, a worn rug, a bookcase filled with juvenile and detective fiction, and a broken-spring sofa, whose brown velvet cover lay in a puddle on the floor. A metal smoking stand stood at the head of the sofa, and in it lay the tamped-out butts of seven cigarettes."

"I'll have our chemist look these over and tell me approximately how old they are, though I don't suppose it matters a whole lot," Strawn said. "I'll be sure the ash trap into an old envelope from his own pocket. 'The boy could have sneaked up here after the murder and done a furious lot of smoking, then, to quiet his nerves. We have only his word for it that he was to meet the girl here. And even if he was, there was nothing to prevent his sneaking her from the window, as she went to the summer house to keep her appointment with Arnold—not knowing he wasn't going to meet her. Afterwards, this room might have appeared to him as a good temporary hiding place. . . . What are you shaking your head about?"

"I still can't see for the life of me, how the perfume flask fits in to this," Dundee answered. "Besides, as I said, I think Dick was really in love with the girl."

"And he was drunk! Don't forget that! Many a man has liquor'd himself up to a state where he'd rather kill a girl than see any other girl have her. But there's no use theorizing yet. Let's get back to the old lady."

"Lord! What a woman!" he added, with profound disgust. "Now, if it was her that was murdered—"

Dundee grinned his full agreement, then, with an exclamation, bent to pick up a book that had fallen open and lay down, near the head of the couch.

An oil electric engine-car on the Canadian National Railway made a non-stop run from Montreal to Vancouver, 2937 miles, in 67 hours, averaging 43½ miles an hour—a world's record in railroading.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

Turrets, too, hold the non-stop record of pleasing cigarette smokers. Month after month, year after year, the demand for Turrets increases because they suit the big majority of smokers.

After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco; grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred."

Broadcast Headliners

B.C. MUSICIANS

A concert of 200 prize music students from five northwest states and British Columbia will be heard during the Standard Symphony Hour to be broadcast from Spokane, Wash., over an N.B.C. network to-morrow night between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock, Victoria time.

The young musicians, who range in age from fourteen to eighteen years, form the Consolidated Northwest High School Orchestra. Coming from Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and British Columbia, they have spent three days in rehearsing for this concert and for a matinee programme given Wednesday afternoon.

Playing in the Armory at Spokane, under the direction of Glenn W. Oiler, director of music of the Oakland, Cal. public schools, the students will have

DIET TEST IN PRUSSIA STARTS

BERLIN, APRIL 8.

Registration of votes throughout Prussia in connection with the demand of the Steel Helmet organization that the Prussian Diet be dissolved as "no longer representing the will of the people" began to-day.

A fortnight has been assigned for collection of signatures. If one-fifth of the Prussian electorate, or 5,250,000, support the demand, the Diet will be formally summoned to dissolve. If it should refuse, the next step would be a plebiscite, which would require about 18,000,000 votes to succeed.

The Social Democrats predominate in the Diet.

Take Long Walks Fat Men are Told

How can you walk off your fat if you haven't any energy to do it?

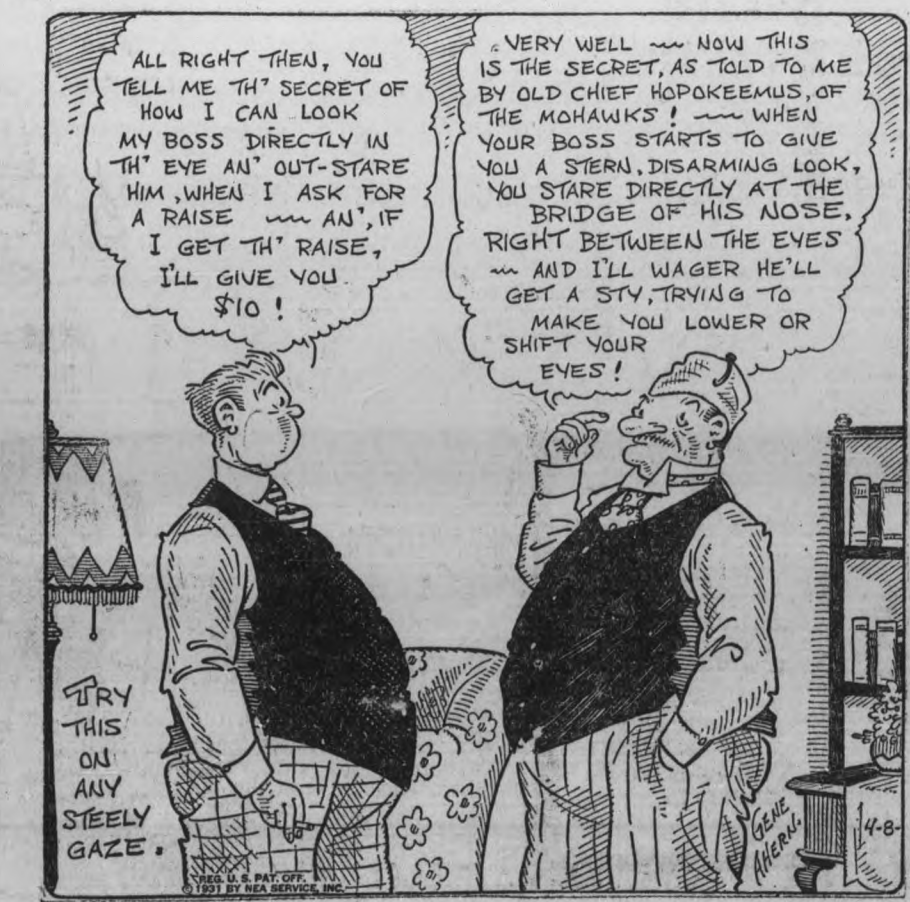

You can take off fat with Kruschen Salt if you take one-half teaspoon in hot water every morning before breakfast, modify your diet and exercise regularly.

There are six different salts in Kruschen that your body organs must have if you are to enjoy good health. While you are losing fat you will be able to walk many miles without fatigue and enjoy every step you walk.

Drug stores all over Canada sell Kruschen Salts, and a jar costs but 75 cents—it's a real blessing to fat people. (Adv.)

Uncle Wiggily and Jackie were eating ice cream.

Then along came the Bob Cat and Uncle Wiggily, pointing to his tall hat in the tree, pretended it was a cannon and said: "BOOM!"

"I can't understand who said BOOM and who pushed the hat out of the hole in the tree, nor who made the dust like smoke," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I wonder who did it?" answered a voice and it came from inside the hollow tree.

"Oh, this is wonderful! It is jolly good magic!" cried Uncle Wiggily, who had fooled the Bob Cat! "Hurray!"

"No, I fooled the Bob Cat!" barked a voice and out of the same hole in the hollow tree where Uncle Wiggily's hat had been caught, jumped Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy.

"Why, Jackie, how did you get in that tree?" asked Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"I crawled in!" barked Jackie. "I was playing in the woods and I saw you coming, Uncle Wiggily. I thought I would crawl in the hollow tree and pop out to surprise you. But after I was down inside the trunk, your hat blew in the hole and stopped it up. A little crack was left, though, for me to look out, and next I saw the Bob Cat coming to get you."

"Then, went on the puppy dog boy, "when I heard the Bob Cat say he was going to nibble you and when you pointed at your hat in the tree and pretended it was a cannon, I thought I would help along the job. So I made a big BOOM and I kicked the hat so it popped out as if a real cannon had fired. That's how it happened."

"What made the smoke?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I did that, too," barked Jackie with a laugh. "There is a lot of dry, powdery dust inside the hollow tree. I threw a paw full of that out as I kicked your hat and it looked like cannon smoke."

"Indeed it did!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "That was very clever of you, Jackie, to scare the Bob Cat and make him run away."

"I'm glad I did," barked the puppy boy. "And as you did me such a favor, went on Uncle Wiggily, 'I want to do

THE MISTAKE OF A FAMOUS DOCTOR

Dr. Robert G. Jackson's paternal grandfather, father and eleven paternal uncles, and his own brother and sister, all died of heart disease. At fifty the great Sir Wm. Osier gave the doctor himself only four months to live, dying from heart disease and "general breakdown." He'd lived fifty years on the ground floor, unable to climb stairs. Four years after Osier gave him up he climbed the fifty steps in Washington's Monument, up and down, and was not even tired. All a result of changed living habits—chiefly a change from civilization's disease-causing acid foods to alkali-forming Roman Meal. His 48-page book, "HOW TO BE ALWAYS WELL," tells the entire story—shows how anyone may be always well, by natural means and his free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," and sample of Roman Meal and the new alkaline beverage, "Kofy-sub." (Adv.)

"Are you moving that table, Uncle Wiggily?" howled the Fox.

"No, I am not," the rabbit gentleman answered. "How could I move the table with my paw in the air?"

"Oh, this must be magic. Bad magic for me. I'd better like a rabbit. So away he ran. Even Uncle Wiggily wondered why the ice cream table tipped."

I will tell you about it in the next book. It will be called Uncle Wiggily's funny bath. But please don't let the snow shovel pull the teeth out of the comb or it can't bite

Would Have Us
Better Pals
To Ourselves

When a Stranger Is Sour or Cynical or Bad-tempered We Drop Him Like a Hot Potato, But If We Ourselves Are Hard to Get Along With We Have To Pat Up With It, for There Is No Way in Which We Can Separate Ourselves From Ourselves

THERE are no other people in the world for whom I feel so sorry as I do for those who have bad dispositions. The people who are grim and surly and grouchy, and in whom the milk of human kindness has turned into clabber. The people who are filled with bitterness and envy and jealousy and malice and spite, and who see the worst in everything and believe the worst of everybody. The people who have no friends and who even alienate the affections of their own families from them.

When you and I meet up with an individual with a disagreeable disposition, we can avoid him or her and seek pleasant society. But the curse upon the poor meanies is that they cannot do this. They have to live with themselves. They can never get away from themselves. Think of the horror of having to endure such companionship for forty or fifty, or perhaps seventy or eighty years, and pity them. If you have tears to shed they are something to weep over.

What other people are is not so vital to us. Nor does it greatly matter what they think of us. They come and go in our lives, but our own personality is always with us. We cannot escape that, and so unless we are right with ourselves we are in wrong with the universe. Unless we enjoy ourselves we are bound to be bored to extinction. Unless we can approve our own conduct the applause of others is as the cracking of thorns under a pot.

If a stranger is sour and cynical and leaves a bad taste in our mouths, we drop him like a hot potato. If a friend is antagonistic and argumentative and always disagrees with everything we say, we eliminate him or her from the list of our associates.

If our parents are pessimistic and make home a demmed, damp, depressing place, as Mr. Martini used to say, we leave them. If our husbands and wives are violent tempered and uncongential and hard to get along with, we divorce them. But there is no way in which we can separate ourselves from ourselves. We have got to endure our own society as long as we live.

It seems to me that we do not sufficiently appreciate this fact, nor realize how important it is to provide ourselves with good company during the long journey through life.

Surely if they did more people would cultivate a pleasant, amiable disposition, for there are few men and women who are more disagreeable to be brought in daily contact with than peevish, irritable ones who are always flying into rages, and who always have a feud on with some one. Why, then, should one choose as one's most intimate companion an individual whose nerves are always shaken to pieces by storms of anger, and whose very blood is poisoned by hate?

Surely any sane person would prefer to live day after day and year after year with one who was sweet and gentle and philosophical, who got along without friction with his fellow creatures and whose soul was filled with honey instead of gall.

And surely if they considered how long they would have to be together, more people would cultivate a cheerful outlook on life. Nobody seeks out the society of the Gloomy Gosses and Calamity Janes. Nobody willingly lends an ear to tales of woe, or goes to spend a pleasant evening with those who beat upon their breasts and weep and lament over everything that happens in this worst of all possible bad old worlds.

On the contrary, the people we enjoy being with are the genial, courageous optimists, who snap their fingers at Fate and carry on with a gay laugh on their lips, even when the sledding gets hard. Why, then, shouldn't we provide ourselves with a high-hearted companion who will whistle and keep our spirits up during the long march, instead of tying up with a whiner and a complainer who will always look on the dark side of things, and sap our strength by taking the spirit out of us with his creakings?

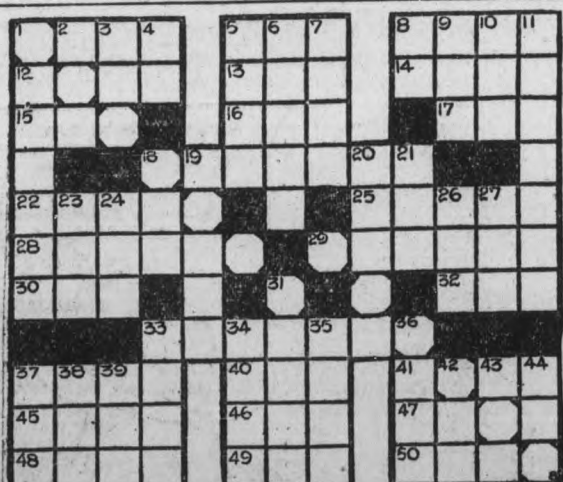

And, surely, since we have to endure our own society for so long, it is worth providing ourselves with an interesting companion. Someone who will never bore us because he has read and thought and observed and traveled and made his mind a storehouse of thrilling memories into which he has only to dip and bring out something interesting with which to entertain us.

If we live to be a hundred and have that kind of a companion we will never have a dull moment. For he or she is a spellbinder who keeps us enthralled by flashing the pictures of strange places before our eyes, by giving us great thoughts to mull over, by telling us strange stories that never end.

Did you ever think that the most unhappy people are those whose worst enemy is themselves? That the lonely people are those who cannot bear their own society and that the bored people are the ignorant who have no resources within themselves?

So let's all try to make ourselves better company for ourselves.
